Bales won't seek 4th term; 3 seek 2 seats

By AL POST ANP Staff Writer

Veteran Romulus School Board member Daniel Bales will not seek re-election to a fourth term this year, while incumbent Sandra Langley and former school board member Kenneth Berlinn filed nominating petitions Monday for the June 14 race.

A third candidate, Pauline Calhoun, will also seek one of the two available four-year terms.

Bales' drop out came as somewhat of a surprise, as he was the first candidate to pick up his campaign petitions last month.

Bales has served in nearly every executive office on the board in his 12-year career and has been considered one of the major "checks and balances" between the community and the administration of Superintendent of Romulus Schools Dr. William Bedell.

Bedell said Tuesday he "almost fell off his chair, when hearing a taped phone message from Bales that he was not going to seek another term."

"Bales will be sorely missed...particularly during salary negotiation periods," Bedell said.

While Bales initially ran an anti-Bedell drive, the superintendent said, Bales has earned the image on the board as being the "great compromiser."

Bales had the unique capacity to bring different forces together for the common good, Bedell said.

"He looked at things from the business perspective...could see things from all sides of an issue...and often kept us on the right track, especially during contract negotiations," Bedell continued.

Bales' departure will leave a "big void" and force the board to rally their individual talents to make up for that loss, Bedell concluded.

In his official statement Tuesday, Bales said, "I believe I have been a dedicated, hard working board member with the education and future of our students foremost in my mind."

Bales continued, "To be an effective board member requires a commitment that I am presently unable to make due to professional and personal commitments."

The retiring board member vowed to remain active in the Former resident is killed

By AL POST ANP Staff Writer

Timothy Paul Segur, a member of the 1983 class at Romulus Senior High School class, was killed recently when his car struck a tree on North Territorial Road in Webster Township.

Mr. Segur, son of Paul and Deanna Segur of Romulus, reportedly was traveling west on the rural road about 1:30 a.m. March 17, when his car skidded out of control on the icy pavement.

Mr. Segur died instantly from extreme head injuries, Washtenaw County Sheriff's officers said.

Sheriff's officers reported that car speed and icy conditions were two of the key elements in the cause of the crash.

Mr. Segur was employed as a automotive prototype builder with the Hy-Form Corp. of Plymouth.

In addition to his parents, he is survived by his wife, Wendy Marie (Kucsera) of Fenton; a brother, Jason, and a sister, Amy Rose, both of Romulus.

There was a memorial service March 21 at the Livonia Kingdom Hall of Jehovah's Witnesses on Seven Mile Road.

Funeral arrangements were completed by the Herrmann Funeral Home of Brighton. Cremation rites were accorded.

Murder defendant convicted

By AL POST ANP Staff Writer

A 36-year-old part time Romulus-Inkster landscaper was found guilty of second degree murder last Friday in Recorder's Court in Detroit.

The defendant, Angelo Sandusky, will be sentenced on April 21 by Recorder's Court Judge Isadore Torres on the charge that he shot and killed Rodney Martin, also 36, of Romulus, last Oct. 8.

Sandusky faces up to life after being found guilty of second degree murder and felony firearms violations.

Romulus Det. Sgt. Gordon Malaniak reported Martin's body was found outside Cypress Park in Romulus about 1 a.m. Oct. 9 by uniform officers on regular patrol.

An examination revealed that Martin had been shot six times, three in the chest, two in the head and once in the arm.

Within 48 hours, Romulus police arrested Sandusky, recovered the 25 caliber automatic pistol used in the killing and charged him with the murder.

Fifteen state witnesses testified, including an eyewitness to the murder. But a clear cut motive never was established, Malaniak said.

The defense only called Sandusky as a witness. The defendant claimed he was not at the scene of the crime and had lent his car, inside which the killing took place, to a relative prior to the killing.

Testimony indicated that Sandusky shot Martin in his car and then dragged him to the scene on the edge of the park, where his body was found later by police.

Youth sensitivity session set

By AL POST ANP Staff Writer

Summer is nearing and fears of violence, particularly among area youth, are on the minds of many in Romulus.

A second youth-parent sensitivity session, initiated recently at the funeral of a former Romulus High School student killed in a drive-by shooting, is being planned for 7 p.m. Tuesday at the high school.

Phyllis Elrod, mother of slain Bayete Z. (Yogi) Elrod, said, "While I haven't confirmed the time at the high

Many of the students who turned out initially, were those who we consider the successful ones on campus. Some are willing to reach out to others. . .but many are just fighting hard to keep from collapsing in this stress-filled life themselves.

adults would "just listen" to the youths, but "they tended to become defensive near the end of the night," Elrod said.

Most media remained away from the first session as she requested, Elrod said, to allow participants to speak out without being sidetracked by cameras and reporters.

According to Elrod, youths discussed "safety in the school because of Easter vacation break, I will have any change (if needed) communicated to students next week."

Elrod and her family felt it was time that some forces within Romulus attempted to improve the dialogue between youth and adults, she said. An initial session April 6 at the high school attracted more than 80 individuals, she said. Half those attending were youths and the remainder of participants were adults, Elrod said.

Eldrod sent out flyers prior to that early meeting stating "Listen to our children...our children need us and we really need to hear them."

The flyer asked "What are their (the youth) needs? Problems? Fears? Together we can make a difference," it concluded.

Elrod felt parents and other adults today have become exceedingly poor listeners.

She was hoping that the schools, peer pressure and lack of sensitivity shown by parents, school officials and police."

The grieving mother said, "Many of the students who turned out initially, were those who we consider the successful ones on campus. Some are willing to reach out to others...but many are just fighting hard to keep from collapsing in this stress-filled life themselves."

"After Tuesday night's meeting, we plan to develop smaller groups and work on plans to identify summer jobs

Surveyor's actions blasted

By AL POST ANP Staff Writer

For the second consecutive week, a frustrated Romulus homeowner appeared at the city council meeting to complain of poor communication and insensitivities toward local residents.

Eva Webb of Moore Street, in the Junction subdivision, complained that surveyors have walked about her property leaving "footprints and strange colored markings," but no information for her family about what actions are being considered by the city.

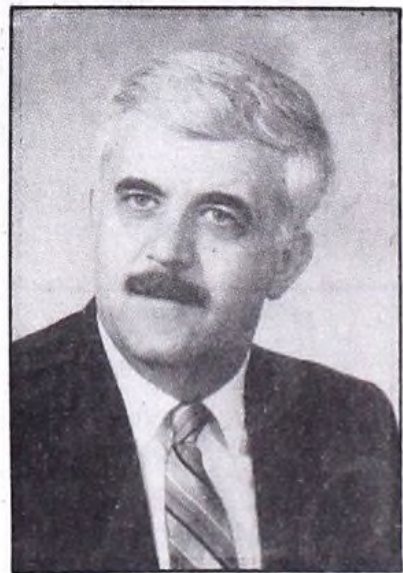

One week earlier Taft Street residents complained of poor city communication on excessive water problems in their neighborhood.

Webb said one day a surveyor peered in her bay window frightening her daughter and still no information was presented to her neighborhood.

Webb said she was active with a committee several years ago that was studying straightening out Goddard Road in the area of her home, but that concept was abandoned, she thought.

"I've lived in Romulus for 21 years," she said, "and I'm willing to stand and fight to keep my house from being taken without my knowledge of what's going on."

Webb said she had asked Councilman Noah "Pete" Bergeron what was going on just prior to the Monday night meeting and said he referred her to a public works department official.

Webb also complained that she has never seen a city councilman in her subdivision in recent years. That charge was refuted by Bergeron and Councilman Ellis Pennington.

Pennington said he had been at the subdivision and had ditches cleaned out by DPW workers after residents there complained about various water backups.

Webb said, "Those ditches may have been cleaned out, but my husband and I had to physically clean out the ditches closest to our home."

Webb said she did have a brief session prior to the council meeting with new Community Development Director

Jane Downing.

Webb listened as Downing said she envisioned benches, new lighting and new sidewalks leading up to the downtown area of Romulus. Downing said she hoped such action would lead to more pedestrian use of downtown and possibly greater commercial development there.

Webb asked Downing why "senior citizens would want to sit on benches downtown, when the only thing presently there are the IGA food store, Romulus Video Store and the Landing Strip tavern and restaurant."

"I support more sidewalks and street lights and even the Historical Park area," Webb explained, "but the bottom line is I don't want (my home) to be relocated."

Councilman William Wadsworth asked, "Are we going to be forcing more people out of their houses with this project? If we force too many more persons out of residential homes here, there won't be anyone left to vote us back into office!"

Downing said the city was attempting to prepare several options for grant submission purposes for state and federal officials. But she vowed, "We won't be forcing anyone out."

Several councilmen urged Downing to tell surveyors and other persons frequenting citizens' properties to "have the common courtesy of knocking on the homeowner's door and informing them of their purpose there."

ROMULUS NEWS DIGEST

Arson awareness week designated

Arson Awareness Week will be marked in Romulus the week of May 23-29, members of the city council agreed Monday night.

The statewide arson prevention committee informed Fire Chief William Greenslait that arson causes $110 million damage annually.

This year the arson effort has been switched from the first to the last month of May.

Honor students to get certificates

Seven Romulus High School members of Delta Sigma Theta Sorority Inc., who have earned a 3.0 grade point average, will receive special certificates from the city council.

Council members approved the certificates Monday night upon the request of A. Mae Jackson, sorority scholarship committee spokesperson.

The certificates will be presented at a May 1 breakfast honoring area students.

Those honored include: Andrea Brown, LaVeda Brown, LaKesha David, Yolanda Holliday, Tanya Logan, Petrina Sewell and Cheryl Young.

Porta-John pact extended

Members of the Romulus City Council have approved a two-year extension of the Porta-John rentals for Romulus Park use through the Waste Management Services of Wayne.

Duwayne Martin, city recreation director, said that Waste Management has agreed to keep the monthly rental rate at $60 per unit for 1993 and 1994. It is the same rate charged last year.

Similar units that are handicapped accessible will cost $3 more a month.

Old water meter to be replaced

A worn out water meter at Kelsey Hayes plant that has been in use for 45 years, will be replaced.

Chief meter repairman R.D. Suiter informed city Department of Public Works Director James Panos that as a result of a test performed on March 19, it was determined that the meter is currently operating at a 78.3 percent accuracy rate.

From April 1992 to April 1993, Kelsey Hayes water bill has averaged $15,132 per 30 days for an annual billing of $181,594.

At the above accuracy rate, it is believed that the city of Romulus lost $3,329 per billing or $39,950 a year, Suiter said.

The replacement of the meter will cost $12,780, which Panos claims should pay for itself in four months and add $26,000 to the city revenue in the first year alone.

Members of the city council approved the replacement.

Breakfast slated to honor mayor

Romulus Mayor Beverly McAnally will be honored at a breakfast from 8 to 11 a.m. April 22 at the Holiday Inn Crowne Plaza, formerly the Radisson Hotel.

The breakfast will be hosted by McAnally's friends and supporters who have invited John Amberger, executive director of the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG), to be the main speaker.

For further information contact Betsey Brown in the mayor's office at 942-7572.

School hot line set up for asbestos

Asbestos concerns at Romulus Senior High School soon will be addressed by members of the school board, Art McPharlin, administrative assistant to Superintendent of Schools Dr. William Bedell, said Tuesday.

Anyone wishing to have their concerns on the issue answered within 24 hours is urged to call the school hot line at 941-7545, McPharlin said.

community particularly "in support of our schools and will speak out on various issues from time to time."

Langley, who also has served on the board for a dozen years, said she wants to see the current computer extension program completed.

She was part of the board that decided several years back to ask public support for a $45 million referendum to equip all of the students in Romulus schools with personal computers.

Langley, currently a member of the staff of Annapolis Hospital, expects to earn her registered nurse degree within the year.

She plans to stress both her experience and the need to complete the current computerized effort within the schools in the coming years.

Berlinn, who lost his bid to win a fourth consecutive term last year, reportedly picked up his petitions late last week.

When asked why he is seeking to return to the board, Berlinn would only say "because it's necessary."

Berlinn was one of the earlier leaders in the computerized education effort.

Calhoun, who has been narrowly defeated for city council and Romulus School Board seats in recent years, is making another attempt to gain a board seat this June.

Calhoun who has served with area credit unions, vows she never received the answers she sought last year on Romulus poor MEAP (Michigan Education Assessment Program) scores.

"I still haven't gotten the answers to the questions I have raised at the high school," Calhoun said, "so now I plan to go to the board of education of offices for such answers."

She plans to run on the "time for a change" platform.

Last year five candidates fought it out for two seats, with incumbent Pat Patterson and newcomer Debra Hoffman winning close races. Trailing behind were Berlinn, Calhoun and Donna Lindquist-Capron.

Some election watchers expressed disappointment that no Afro-Americans filed for a seat on the school board again this year despite the fact that 35 percent of the student population is composed of Afro-Americans.

Detours planned for summer

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

While there will be few traffic disruptions on Merriman and Middlebelt roads during the $23.6 million reconstruction project during the next two years, travelers planning to use Detroit Metro Airport are warned that detours will be needed.

State Transportation Director Patrick Nowak revealed at a press conference last week, "Airport-bound motorists should consider adding an extra 15 minutes of travel time on off-peak hours and 30 minutes during heavily traveled times such as late afternoons on weekdays, as well as Friday and Sunday evenings."

Meanwhile travelers leaving the airport face double those times, or a half hour for those driving during non-peak hours and a full hour during the more congested periods.

Nowak said since last summer, airport representatives along with Michigan Department of Transportation staff have developed a program designed to minimize motorist inconvenience.

Some of the highlights of that program include:

- Special brochures and location signs at critical spots within the airport and alternate routes.

- A new logo...I-94WARD--We'll keep you moving at Metro.

- Special coordination with persons, who stage special events, conventions and other activities.

- Support for frequent users of the airport.

- Speakers to meet with citizens or civic organizations

- A telephone hot-line 1-800-968-9394 for continuous updating about construction and traffic conditions.

- A 24-hour tow service on freeway segments and in the vicinity of alternate route networks.

"Our goal is simple," Nowak said, "we are committed to making it as easy as possible for motorists to get around and through the construction with minimal inconvenience."

The 3.10 miles of reconstruction is being done by Dan's Excavating Inc. of Shelby Township, Nowak said.

Next year, traffic on I-94 will be reduced to two lanes and a ramp merge lane in each direction and widening of bridges will require periodic stoppages of traffic on Middlebelt and Merriman roads.

On Merriman Road, southbound lanes into the airport will remain open to traffic throughout reconstruction work, with occasional lane reductions north of the I-94 freeway.

On Middlebelt Road, northbound lanes will be closed from now until July 1993 between Wick and Smith Roads. Southbound traffic will have two full lanes available.

Ramps from I-94 to Middlebelt will remain open, but ramps from Middlebelt to I-94 will be closed from now until July with appropriate detours marked.

Then beginning in late November through March 1994, all ramps and roads will be open to traffic

City precincts will be merged

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The expanding Detroit Metro Airport is now taking a major bite out of Romulus election patterns.

City Clerk Linda Choate Monday proposed the merging of voting Precincts 6 and 19 with other election precincts due to declining registrations.

The registration declines have been caused in recent years by Wayne County purchases of homes to facilitate the airport expansion, she said.

Following the recommendation of the election commission and approval of members of the city council, Precinct 6 will now be merged with Precinct 15.

In addition, three separate portions of the current Precinct 19 will be fed into existing Precincts 4, 11 and 12.

Precincts 6 and 19 will disappear from the election scene in Romulus. The only voting site to disappear, however, will be Fire Station 2 on Middlebelt.

Those voters impacted by the changes will receive a letter soon from the city clerk's office and a new voter registration card in time for the June 2 election on tax issues and the June 14 school board races.

A growing number of Romulus voters will not be able to vote in the Romulus School trustee race, since they are in the Wayne-Westland School District.

Choate said, "We request that the Wayne-Westland School District Precinct 3 currently bounded on the north by Van Born Road, on the south by Beverly Road, on the west by Hannan Road and on the east by Cogswell Road, be now enlarged to include all the area north of Ecorse Road."

That request also was approved by council members.

'Homebound' ministry offered to residents

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

For more than 20 years, the Rev. Edwin Hoff has served as minister to the handicapped and homebound in the Belleville-Romulus area.

His special ministry, which is an outreach program of the Belleville United Methodist Church, Hoff, who is a paraplegic, makes his rounds of nursing homes, retirement and group homes in a wheelchair.

During the past two decades, he has regularly visited 30 to 40 nursing and retirement homes throughout western Wayne, Monroe and Washtenaw counties during his ministry.

"I do my best to be a friendly visitor and a spiritual adviser and helper to those in nursing homes and other facilities," said Hoff. "It never seems to get old. It's where I'm glad to be."

Hoff, who is 70, admits to "tapering off a bit" in recent years. In the past, he used to make rounds of the facilities in both the morning and afternoon, but now he limits his visits to the afternoons.

In addition to making regular visits to the elderly shut-ins, Hoff provides two special programs for them annually: a letter and red apple for each one at Christmas and a "thanksgiving" dinner in February, on the Sunday closest to Valentine's Day.

"The thanksgiving dinner is the best experience of the year for many of those who attend," said Hoff. "We schedule it in February because it is such a dreary month. Many of the nursing home residents never get out, and even those who do, rarely have an outing in mid-winter."

Slaying suspect slated for psychiatric testing

A 19-year-old Ypsilanti man, accused in a March 28 double slaying, will undergo a psychiatric examination.

The testing, which was requested by the suspect's attorney, was ordered by 34th District Court Judge Henry Zaborowski.

Dossie Lee Gulley Jr., the suspect in the slaying of Kevin Jerome Searcy and Valerie Yvette Noel in Sumpter Township, could face two counts of first-degree murder, which carries a mandatory life sentence if the suspect is convicted.

A decision on whether Gulley will stand trial in the murder charges is expected later this month, following the psychiatric examination.

The two victims were shot to death at Noel's home on Oakville-Waltz Road. The suspect apparently shot Searcy who he suspected of dating his girlfriend, Noel, who owned the home where the shooting occurred, was apparently shot when she and another woman tried to calm the suspect down after the first shooting.

"What is wrong with us that so many children have to face these kinds of fears and terrors every day of their lives?"

She wrote that despite her training and day-to-day work with Romulus youth, she admittedly doesn't "have any of the answers. I only have the questions."

Something has to change, she warned, "But where do we start?"

for youth in the area, summer recreational opportunities and possibly even summer use of school computers," she said.

Romulus area pastors referred to local incidents in their Easter Sunday messages and urged adults to get involved in the solution process, particularly after a local school health director offered an opinion bearing the headline "Teen tragedies: Questions, No Answers."

Kathleen Conway, director of the Adolescent Health Center at the high school, had written a column that reflected on 17-year-old Elrod's death and a recent knife cutting at the high school.

Conway explained that some key questions that need to be answered are: How do students feel about losing a friend to violence? At whom are they angry?

But Conway said she found she personally was feeling "furious" and "angry that these children have to deal with this kind of situation at all."

Church expansion is approved

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Members of the Romulus City Council approved the plans of Pentecostal Missionary Baptist Church to expand the sanctuary and classroom area at the facility Monday night.

Church pastor Arthur Willis said that the church officially opened in 1962 in a converted house at 35625 Vinewood avenue, between Ecorse and Beverly roads.

Now more than 30 years later, Willis said attendance at both the Sunday School and church services have advanced to such a degree that a major expansion is needed this summer.

According to the church building plans submitted by professional community planner Dennis Meagher, the church plans to add 5,400 square feet and will have at least 90 parking places.

The expansion plan earlier had been approved by the city fire department and the planning commission.

Willis said after the meeting that his church plans to make an aggressive attack on youth problems and will "offer pre-teens and teenagers a positive alternative to drug and gang cultures."

Willis, who currently resides in Oak Park, plans to move to Romulus shortly after the church expansion is completed.

Willis said he will lead a prayer vigil May 6 marking the World Day of Prayer outside Romulus City Hall.

The Romulus World Day of Prayer effort is being coordinated by Victor Parker of the Romulus Wesleyan Church. Parker said that letters to more than 20 Romulus pastors will be in the mail soon on the middle outdoor prayer rally.

Willis said also that his church will also host more than 200 youth and 30 adults at a youth retreat in Dearborn the weekend of April 23, 24 and 25.

Among those adult speakers will be representatives of law enforcement, professional groups, education and the medical field, Willis said.

Artrain arrives in area May 13

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

The Artrain is moving full speed ahead toward the City of Wayne, and the expected arrival date is May 13.

City officials are getting ready to provide western Wayne County residents with a spectacular program. This year, the Artrain theme is "The Romance of Transpiration-Vehicle and Voyage in North American Art," according to Debbie L. Manns, Wayne community development director.

"The last time the Artrain came to Wayne was in 1989," Manns said. "At that time the theme was 'Visions From Childhood.'"

The Artrain will be in the community from May 13-16. Four cars with various exhibits will be open for residents to browse through.

"A volunteer will be available to describe the contents in each car," Manns said. "Novelty items will also be on sale."

Committees are being organized to work on the coordination of the Artrain project, according to Manns.

"Art that will be exhibited will be from artists who have interpreted evolution over the past 300 years in transportation technology," Manns said.

An outreach committee is being formed to organize group tours to the Artrain.

There is also a steering committee in the works which will coordinate the project, according to Manns.

"The last time we had the Artrain in the city we had more than 60 volunteers," Manns said. "We're also planning to have a promotional/publicity group, host and reception committee and a finance committee."

The location for the Artrain to come to a full stop in Wayne has not been established yet. Last year it was located on Elizabeth Road on the Conrail track.

There is no fee to visit the exhibit. The Artrain travels to communities throughout the U.S. each year.

WHEREAS: The City of Romulus is required by state law to assess property at fifty (50%) percent of market value and there are sanctions imposed against assessors and communities who do not comply; and

2. The City of Romulus Elected Officials endorses the efforts of the Michigan Municipal League to promote a bipartisan approach for property tax relief through the Michigan legislature. This bipartisan plan addresses school finance reform and proposes an increase in the state income tax rate to six (6%) percent plus an increase in the state income tax personal exemption from $2,100 to $3,000 along with other provision for tax relief.

3. The City Clerk is hereby directed to take immediate steps to present the concerns for property tax relief in the City of Romulus to the attention of the Governor, the Michigan Municipal League and Romulus' legislative delegation in the Michigan legislature.

4. It is the policy position of the City of Romulus that in the transferring of the tax burden from the property tax to other taxes, the Michigan Legislature cause that there be no net increase in the total tax burden on the citizens of this state and that existing TIFA's be made whole.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED: The due to the urgency of this issue, the City Clerk shall fax and mail a certified copy of this resolution to the Honorable Governor John Engler, to our State Senators and Representatives, the House Taxation Committee, the Michigan Municipal League (MML), the Southeastern Michigan Council of Governments (SEMCOG), the Downriver Community Conference (DCC), the Conference of Western Wayne (CWW) and to all surrounding communities.

Blackwater Bayou

Miniature home takes third-place in garden show

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

And the winner is... Wayne Country Mouse owner Pat Sabourin was a top winner again in the Ann Arbor Flower and Garden Show last month for her outstanding Blackwater Bayou miniature house entry.

Sabourin and her assistant SueAnn Levack took third place. They competed against a Rain Forest entry which captured second place and a Dr. Seuss entry won first place.

"We were very pleased with the award," Sabourin said. "We were competing against more than 100 people. There were some very interesting entries including an Arabian Nights scene."

Sabourin and Levack worked hundreds of hours on the project. They concentrated on making their house look old through a staining process.

"We started building this the first of the year," Sabourin said. "A number of people helped us. We had to take new wood and make it look old and weathered for our theme."

Sabourin researched various books on the staining process to make sure the Blackwater Bayou was authentic looking. She said it took nearly 10 hours to stain the roof.

"It's a process of trial and error," Sabourin said. "We had three ponds surrounding the house with lots of greenery."

Sabourin ordered various aquatic plants from California to make it look authentic. Inside the home she created a kitchen area and family room with old-fashioned furniture and light fixtures to resemble the Blackwater time period. "You could enter just about anything that dealt with the 'Wild Side' theme," Sabourin said.

Sabourin has always been fascinated with miniatures. Her shop on Michigan Avenue houses the most up-to-date doll houses, building supplies and furniture accessories.

Navy Hornets to buzz over Willow Run

Highlighting the Air-Michigan '92 air show at Willow Run Airport next month will be the Blue Angels performing in their F/A-18 Hornet aircrafts.

The U.S. Navy aerobatic demonstration team entertained nine million spectators during 1992, and are scheduling their May 8 and 9 appearance in the Detroit area as one of their early stops in the 1993 season.

"The Blue Angels always draw large crowds to Willow Run Airport, and we are very excited that they have selected Wayne County to be a part of their 1993 tour," said Wayne County Executive Edward McNamara.

Since the team was formed in 1946, it has performed in front of more than 249 million spectators.

AirMichigan is slated to present one of its best and most varied casts of performers this year with aerobatic ace Sean Tucker, stuntman/wingwalker Johnny Kazian, the French Connection "mirror image" team plus military jets, skydiving and hang gliding demonstrations.

The two-day event will also feature radio-controlled aircraft, helicopters and historic aircraft from the Yankee Air Force.

Tickets are on sale at all Ticket Master outlets and also at the AirMichigan office at Willow Run. Advance general admission tickets through May 7 are $9 for adults and $6 for children. Tickets at the gate are $12 for adults and $9 for children.

A taxing situation

School districts throughout our area are mandated by law to present a balanced budget by June 1. And then, on June 2, everything about the way schools are financed in the state may be changed as voters make a decision about Gov. John Engler's property tax proposal.

We, like most legislators and school finance administrators, admit we are puzzled and confused by this proposal. We fully understand only one aspect of this new school finance proposal and that is that nobody understands all of it.

We doubt that the governor or his budget director fully understands all the ramifications of this proposal. The list of questions and uncertainties continues to grow. As one question about the impact of the proposal is clarified, two more creep up to confuse everyone involved.

On the surface, it seems desirable. Some school district finance directors are saying it may even benefit them—others are calling it the kiss of death to education in the state. While one school finance expert says this is the best way to approach the crisis schools face in funding today, another claims that the governor is out to sabotage the schools and that education and the children will suffer irrevocable damage.

Which opinion or analysis is correct? We don't know and we don't think anyone else does either.

We think the jury is out and we find too many conflicting opinions from too many experts adding more fuel to the fire of confusing blazing away throughout school districts across the state. Where is the answer? We don't even pretend to be that clever.

We hope that the governor's office takes the time and expends the effort to clarify what they can about this proposal. We hope the questions can be answered and some assurances and guarantees made to those who find more fault than fact with this proposal. We want this to work because the other sure thing is that school finance reform is needed in Michigan and needed desperately.

This proposal looks and sounds very good to many people who would gladly trade their $600 and $700 school tax bills for an additional 2 cents on the dollar in sales tax. The proposal is looked at by an equal number with disdain and doubt as they find no assurance that the money will actually be used for education. Many voters continue to resent the promises made about financing education with lottery money if voters would only approve making that legal in the state.

There are still more questions than answers about this proposal—but we must at least acknowledge one aspect of it. It is something. It is, at last, some type of a plan. And confusing, untried and convoluted as it may be, it is at least some attempt to solve the debacle that is school financing today.

But to ask us or the voters to make any other decision about it based on the information available to us today is an exercise in futility. We simply know far too little to make an informed judgment.

We hope that changes before June 2.

An important day

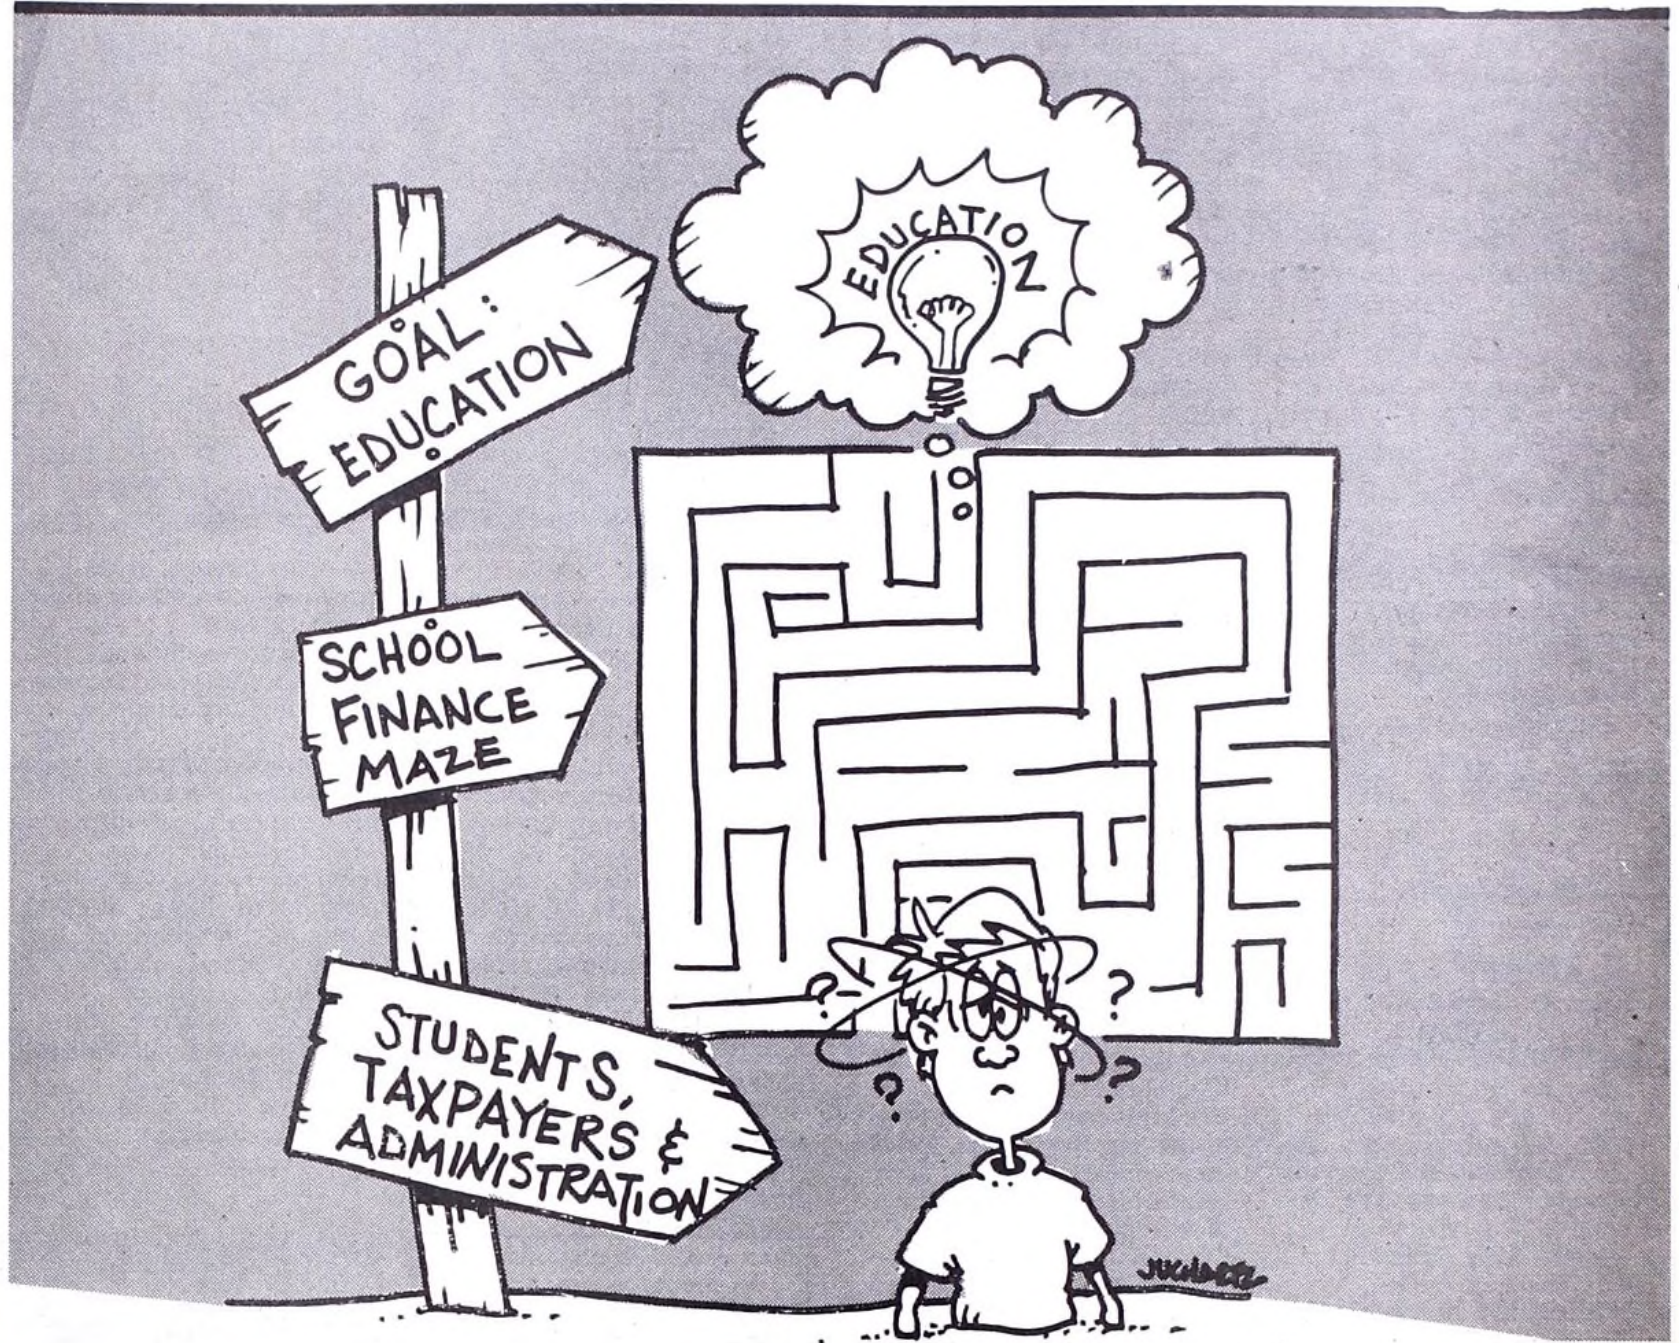

Next week will mark a day which is gaining importance in the lives of each of us.

April 22 has been designated as Earth Day—and it is an important day for each of us. No, Hallmark isn't going to deluge us with greeting cards and we don't suggest phoning everyone in the family. What we do recommend is a rededication to the importance of protecting the environment and an acceptance that recycling and sensible conservation of the resources of our planet are aspects of our existence.

We suggest that this day be the one in which we each make a personal resolution to help take the steps necessary to protect earth from the most dangerous enemy of all—ourselves.

We're not suggesting that everyone become a recycling and environmental zealot. What we do hope for is a quiet revolution toward recycling and protection of the environment and our natural resources.

That's our hope, and yours, for the future.

Resident blasts election results

To the editor:
In light of the outcome of the April 5th millage election, I am amazed at the residents and the politicians of our community. It is quite obvious that they do not care about the children (our leaders of tomorrow) and the value of their homes.

The millage was not asking for more money, it was asking to renew a millage we were paying already, but at a less percentage. The Headlee Override would have assured our district would have received the maximum amount of monies for the state. But no, because everyone was up in arms due to our homes being assessed higher, they used this opportunity to get even with our children, not the system. Are the citizens aware that the higher assessments do not affect the monies received for education? I think not. Why don't our fellow residents find out the facts before committing the children to a lesser education?

Did the mayor support this millage renewal? I don't remember seeing anything telling the community that this millage is necessary to assure the children continue to receive a quality education. Additionally, quality education affects the value of our homes and community. Try to sell your house now and see how the value has dropped drastically.

I commend our new superintendent of schools, Dr. Thomas, for spending almost every night over the past several months, selling our school system and the need for the support of the community. Yet, this is the way the community responds, by defeating both proposals.

What's next? I'm sure the school board and Dr. Thomas are once again looking at a way to prevent a disaster in our community. How would the residents feel if all of a sudden we don't have our schools open, like another Michigan school system? How are the residents going to feel if the children don't have transportation, reading assistance, athletics, student co-curricular activities, library support, maintenance and school improvement programs? Who are the residents going to blame when the children can't get into a college of their choice due to a less than quality education? Maybe the community should have thought about all of these questions before pushing down the no button on the millage.

State school funding criticized

To the editor:
Governor Engler's newest school funding proposal would be disastrous for the Plymouth-Canton School District, slashing the district's funds by as much as $11 million next year alone.

The plan proposes providing the Plymouth-Canton school district $5,000 per student, about $55 less than it is estimated the financially strapped district will spend this year alone.

In addition, however, the proposal would require Plymouth-Canton to pay all employee Social Security and retirement contributions now being paid by the state. It also would eliminate all funding for adult education and jobs training programs at a time when they are desperately needed.

The program would also eliminate special funds provided in the past by the state for transportation and other special programs. Since the state would not provide funding for transportation, each district would decide individually whether it would or could bus any students at all.

The decrease in funds, coupled with the increase in expenditures, would cost Plymouth-Canton schools about $761 per student, for a total decrease of about $11 million. In addition, the plan offers no additional burdens they would be asked to shoulder.

The plan is an improvement from other earlier versions, including one which would have eliminated special education funding and placed all special education students back in the regular classroom with little or no special assistance.

The effect on Plymouth-Canton schools cannot be discounted, considering that many elementary classrooms already have more than 35 students in them, an unacceptably high number which negatively affects learning and the teachers' ability to individually help students.

I encourage all Plymouth-Canton parents to call Sen. Robert Geake (517-373-1707) and Reps. Jerry Vorva (517-373-3816) and Deborah Whyman (517-373-2575) to urge them to vote no on the proposal, and to demand that their elected officials pass a school funding proposal which will guarantee quality schools in Wayne County.

Outcome-based concept explained

To the editor:
I have been reading with concern previous writings that reference outcome based education in the local press. I agree that as educators we may sometimes lack clarity and simple explanations. Here is a definition of outcome based education that is clear and does not use educational jargon.

Outcome based education is not a program but an attitude that is based upon the belief that "All students can learn and succeed, but not on the same day, nor in the same way." Educators and parents must demonstrate that it is important that:

- all children learn well what the school wants them to learn;
- mastery of knowledge and skills is essential;
- we are clear in defining what students should know and do at the end of 12 years of education;
- students must show that they know the essential knowledge and skills prior to receiving a diploma;
- student performance toward the exit outcomes must be measured;
- we have high expectations for all students; and
- we align our teaching to the performance measures.

The following information was shared with our teachers by Dr. Robert Darnell last summer at the high school. He surveyed his students from District 214 in Arlington Heights, Illinois to get their views of teaching and learning in an outcome based class. Here are the student comments:

In an outcome based classroom:

1. I know what I am expected to learn from the course.
2. I know what I am expected to learn each day.
3. The teacher believes that all the students can learn.
4. The teacher expects a lot from me.
5. The teacher uses many different methods to teach us.
6. The teacher uses a variety of activities to help us learn.
7. I have a chance to practice what I am learning.
8. I have a chance to show what I have learned.
9. I learn more than just facts.
10. My teacher expects me to get actively involved.
11. I know how well I am doing.
12. The teacher helps me understand what I have learned.
13. The teacher helps me understand what I still need to learn.
14. If I don't get something right away, I have another chance to learn it.
15. I feel free to ask my teacher for help.

Examples of outcome based activities can be found in our classrooms and in our daily lives. These examples include scouting merit badges, music training, marching bands, athletic teams, drama productions learning to drive a car or ride a bike, and apprenticeship training in the skilled trades. In each of these activities, as in excellent classrooms, the performance level for success is known, shared with the participants and practiced to ensure high performance.

We in education not only must work toward continuous improvement but are just as intentionally as business and industry seeking to improve quality. Therefore, we must align our teaching practices to ensure that students can successfully demonstrate the knowledge and skills expected to be life-long learners and productive citizens when they graduate from our schools.

In command

Local woman is first female sheriff leader

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

“I still get many cards, feedback and notes from the ranks.”

- Lt. Rose Fodera

Lt. Rose Fodera never dreamed as a college student of being in a supervisory role in law enforcement.

Yet today, Fodera of Romulus is the first woman commander in the history of the Wayne County Sheriff's Department. At 40, she also is the youngest commander in history.

While ethical conduct has gotten watered down in many sectors of professional life today, Fodera continually informs her deputies "people expect more from us in uniform and we cannot walk away from that responsibility."

Fodera said going back to her college days at the University of Detroit, she knew she wanted to make something of her life and to make a positive difference in other lives.

For a while she thought of becoming a school teacher or a trial lawyer, Fodera said, but then decided to enter the law enforcement field.

In 1976 she joined the Wayne County Sheriff's Department and has worked diligently to improve both her body and mind since then.

She said she feels strongly that professionals today need to keep their bodies in tip top shape and she has become a body building activist.

The purity of the body helps provide clarity of the mind, Fodera said, and that in turn also helps keep her communication skills sharp with both her counterparts in the department as well as those in lower ranks.

After joining the sheriff's department, Fodera said, she realized that to have a strong impact on the greatest number of individuals, it was important for her to climb the ladder of command.

When she first was named a sergeant, Fodera said, she found many veteran corporals under her command in rebellion.

Rather than being offended, Fodera explained, "I began to stress the team concept because I wanted them to believe in me."

"It took some time for the rationale to sink in, particularly with the veterans," Fodera said, "but finally many stepped forward and told her 'the problem is, no one ever tried this before.'"

During her four years as a sergeant, Fodera said, she developed strong relationships with the various deputies and many today still seek her counsel despite the fact they are not directly under her command.

"Surprisingly many were upset when I was named an executive lieutenant and taken out of day-to-day contact with most of them," she said. "I was named to work in the jail system and prepared the system's first jail manual."

"Since I have always solicited suggestions from subordinates," Fodera said, "I still get many cards, feedback and notes from the ranks."

Fodera said she continues to try to improve her communication style, feeling many law enforcement leaders "have forgotten why they initially got into this profession."

When she was named commander recently and placed in charge of police discipline, she found the post needed some heavy adjustments.

She felt just the word "discipline" reflected a negative tone, so she prefers to stress her role as one who initiates "creative changes."

Fodera said Wayne County Sheriff's deputies need to know it is in both their self interest and that of the public that they "abide by the department's rules and regulations."

While the number of women in top supervisory roles in law enforcement across the U.S. is "still minimal", Fodera said, she hopes to lead by example and make it easier for other female staff members to follow in her footsteps.

She refuses to speculate why she was selected over three fellow officers, all men, seeking the commander position.

But Fodera knows she has a strong law enforcement track record, that included four months training last June at the Federal Bureau of Investigation National Academy in Quantico, Va.

While she will not be soliciting chances to speak before any group, Fodera will not frown on those opportunities either.

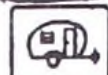

Lt. Rose Fodera

New sports center celebrates opening

A celebration of the opening of the newest Dunham's sports center is slated this weekend at Lakewood Shopping Center in Van Buren Township.

Staff members are preparing to welcome sports fans, hunters and fishermen with special events and savings to the 25,000-square-foot store which opened April 1 at Lakewood Shopping Center, Rawsonville Road at Interstate-94.

The sporting goods store is the sixth Dunham's site in Wayne County and the 15th in the Metro Detroit area. The chain of retail sporting goods stores, based in Waterford, Mich., operates more than 65 stores in the Midwest and Northeast.

Greg Fisher, the former manager of Dunham's Ypsilanti store, is the manager of the new store.

"We're looking forward to serving the sportsmen of the area. With our location close to Belleville Lake, we'll provide equipment for fishermen, and also supplies and equipment for all sports," Fisher said, noting that the Belleville area is well known as a "sports-minded community."

Dunham's Athleisure Corp., a leading sporting good retailer, carries a variety of name brand sporting good, shoes and outerwear by makers such as Nike, Reebok, Wilson, Rawlings, Columbia, Weslow, Spaulding, Winchester, Remington, Carhart, Brunswick, Prince, Levi's, Browning and Woolrich. The stores feature a wide variety of active sports and leisure apparel, including blue jeans, shirts, sweaters and more than 200 styles of athletic and casual footwear.

Dunham's company slogan says: "Our big names bring you in - our low discount prices bring you back. Guaranteed!"

In addition to providing brand name merchandise, Dunham's also has technicians trained in racket stringing, bowling ball drilling, ski binding mounting, gun site mounting and bow and arrow repair.

Coach is ailing

Wayne gets off to late start in baseball

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Wayne Memorial may have been a a heartbeat away from losing its veteran baseball coach.

Coach Jim Chronowski said he won't be swinging bats or throwing balls as he has been doing at spring practice for the past 22 years after doctors have ordered him to take it easy for a while.

Chronowski was hospitalized earlier this month for an irregular heart beat and doctors at St. Mary's of Livonia and St. Joseph's in Ypsilanti decided to insert a permanent pacemaker in his heart.

"I feel fine now," said Chronowski, who is back with his team. "But they cautioned me that I can't swing a bat or throw a ball because I could create some problems. But I feel fine and am ready to go."

Chronowski said that during his absence the Zebras were under the supervision of assistant coaches Ron Way, who played for Wayne during mid-1980s, and Brandon Byrd, who pitched for the Zebras in 1986.

"I missed about six days, so I have some catching up to do," Chronowski added.

Wayne was snowed out against Thurston in the season opener scheduled for April 3 and flooded grounds led to the postponement of the scheduled Wolverine 'A' Conference opener against Monroe on April 5.

They probably wished that they had also cancelled their game with Trenton. However, that conference duel went as scheduled and the Zebras surfaced on the short end of a 7-6 decision.

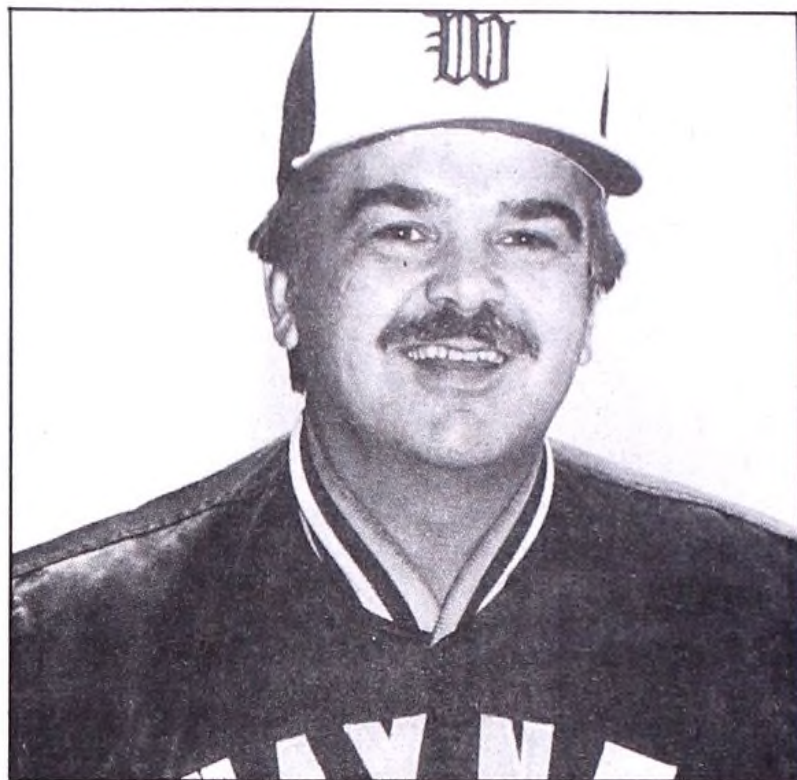

Wayne strated strong as the Zebras erupted for five runs in the opening inning, but Trenton came back and tied the game at five-all in the top of the fifth, then went on to ruin the Zebras' 1993 opener.

Starting hurler for Wayne, Dave Henry, got the Zebras on the scoreboard with a bases-loaded double that chased home Chris Moore, who had singled to lead off the first and Jeff Tapp, who had walked. Tadd Kemtainen also walked to load the bases.

Kemtainen and Henry were chased home when John Ballard drilled a two-bagger down the left field line. Wayne left Jeremy Treppa stranded at third after he tripled home the final run of the inning.

Wayne had a chance to tie it up in the seventh when winning pitcher J.J. Putz gave up a one-out double to Jason Overton.

'Homeless' Romulus winless

If they finish repairing it, Romulus ball players will come home to play on it.

But, as it stands, coach Don Foley and the Eagles are presently "homeless" and without a baseball diamond. The diamond is being repaired.

And, because they don't have a field, Romulus was forced to prepare for the 1993 campaign indoors. Last week, the Eagles came out of doors to play their season opener with predictable consequences.

Romulus committed an incredible 11 errors in losing a 9-1 opener to Taylor Truman and, in the second outing, wasn't much better. A porous defense that made seven miscues opened the door to another 9-1 setback, this time at the hands of Taylor Center.

"Our field won't be ready until sometime in May," said Foley, who explained that the field was reseeded late last year and the grass presently isn't thick enough to accommodate play.

"Because we don't have a home field, we conducted our practices indoors. Also, all of our home games in April will be played on our opponents' fields," Foley added.

Ann Arbor Pioneer was the latest to take advantage of the Eagles' misfortunes. They handed the Eagles their third successive loss, 7-4, an extra innings affair. Romulus hurler Charlie DuDonis looked good in his initial start on the mound as he scattered four hits, whiffed five but walked eight in seven innings of work.

The Eagle starter was removed in the eighth with bases loaded for reliever Dan Czajkowski who unsuccessfully attempted to put out the fire. Pioneer got three runs in the extra inning - all charged to DuDonis - to stash away the victory.

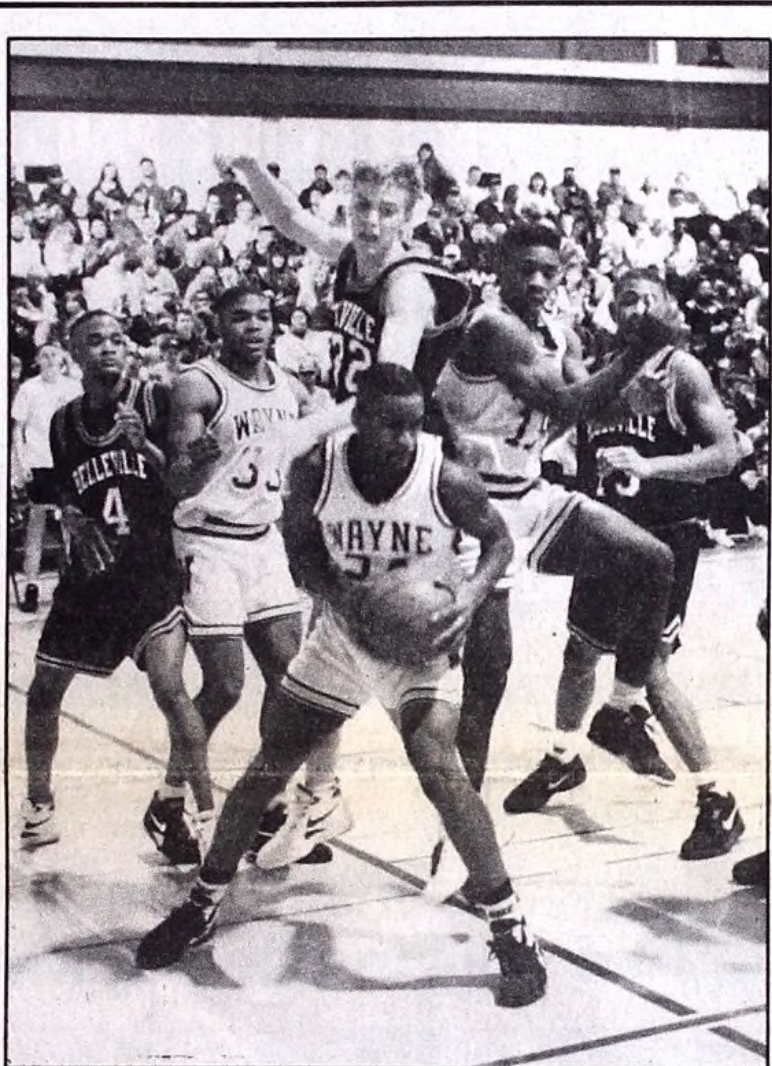

Dave Kennedy, who twirled a three-hitter, was the winning pitcher. Kennedy got into trouble in the first inning when the Eagles took a 1-0 lead thanks to a walk to Mike Barwikowski, who stole second and went to third on Jeff Blanton's ground-out. He scored when Ron Yount flied to left.

Pioneer erased the deficit with two runs in their second, but the Eagles got those back in their half on a walk and single by Ron Grube and Rick Luczak who advanced to third and scored when the infield misplayed Joe Kusibab's bunt.

DuDonis notched five strikeouts and walked eight in his debut.

In their season opener, the defenseless Eagles had their problems on the field and Truman capitalized on the 11 miscues that cost senior righthander Yount the decision. Yount looked good as he scattered five Truman hits, struck out nine and issued four walks.

Grube collected two of the six hits.

Delayed action

Now that the 1992-93 high school basketball season is history, it's time to select the Associated Newspapers' All-Area Team. The team, picked from such outstanding squads as Wayne Memorial and Belleville, who finished in a two-way tie for first in their conference (above), will also include blue-chip cagers from Plymouth-Salem, Plymouth-Canton, Romulus, Westland John Glenn, Plymouth-Canton, Inkster and Robichaud lineups. Also, the ANP staff will select its Coach of the Year. The players, who were nominated by the coaches, and the Coach of the Year will appear on these pages next week.

Belleville shot-putter shows he is a state title-contender

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Belleville High senior shot-putter Al Barnett, who finished third in the state a year ago, established himself as one of the top candidates for the state title in his speciality.

Barnett had a put of 54 feet, 6 inches in his 1993 debut last week to help the Tigers post a lopsided 125-18 victory over Trenton. It was the first Wolverine 'A' Conference track and field meet for both teams.

"I feel that he (Barnett) has an excellent chance of winning the state title this year," said Tiger coach Dave Medley, who began his 17th year as head coach at Belleville. "The two who finished ahead of him a year ago are gone, leaving the door open for Al."

Barnett's performance was the best this season by a prep shot-putter. The rugged Tiger senior also won the discus event with a toss of 145 feet, 5 inches. In that event, Barnett finished among the top 10 in the state a year ago.

Belleville swept all 17 events against Trenton. Tiger sprinter Daryl Montie finished first in the 100-meters (11.2) and the 200-meters (22.7), while teammate Russell Stewart pole vaulted 10-feet and ran a 2:14 to capture the 800-meters.

Medley's 3,200-meter relay team with Curtis Lunsford, Tony Maciejewski, Craig Hogg and Darren Hamilton coasted to a 8:38.2 for an easy win, while the 800-meter foursome of Nate Lewis and twins - Jason and Jeremy Gold - along with Chris Cannon turned was first in 1:36.8.

The Tigers also won the 400-meter relay with a lineup of Montie, Mike Kendrick, Henry Parks and Cannon. The winning time was posted as 45.4.

In the 1,600-meter relay, Belleville went with Stewart, Jason Gold, Maciejewski and Lunsford, who were clocked in 3:38.8.

Belleville also had winners with John Snead,

Canton breezes by Glenn

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

A young and inexperienced Westland John Glenn track team turned in a good overall effort in the season opener, but it wasn't good enough to stop a veteran-filled Plymouth-Canton Thursday in a Western Lakes crossover meet.

Canton swept 13 firsts, dominated the relays, en route to a 76-56 victory over the Rockets.

"We were in this meet until the 800 and 3,200 events," said Glenn coach Jess Shough, "but they (Canton) went 1-2 on us in both events and that put it away for them."

Chris Vanderburgh put the high jump in the Glenn win column as he successfully negotiated 6 feet, 2 inches. Teammate John Porter's 11-foot performance was the best in the pole vault competition.

Glenn also won the 110-meter hurdles with Todd Peterson (16.2), and Randy Ellison led the 400-meter field, finishing in 53.5. The Rockets only other first came in the 1,600-meters thanks to the efforts of Shamar Lott, Bob Lulek, Jason Crosby and Chris Vanderburgh who were clocked in 3:39.0.

Canton replied with a pair of first places from Tom Raven, who won the shot put (44 feet, 2 2/4) and the discus (136 feet, 2). Teammate Bob LeMasters also was a double winner. The senior Canton sprinter turned in a 12:03 in winning the 100-meters, then carded a 24.5 for a

The rest of the best of All-Area wrestlers

Felton Bush

A seventh-place medal winner at state which automatically gave him All-State recognition, Bush wrapped up his senior year at Romulus with a 35-12 record. Although he finished fourth at districts, Felton came on strong at regionals (silver medal) before his sterling performance at state. He also won silvers at Lincoln Park, Romulus Royal, Bay City Western and a third place medal at the Lansing Eastern Invitational.

Rob Graham

An athlete-scholar, Graham is the valedictorian of his graduating class at Romulus High. He also is one of the best school wrestlers. With a 27-9 overall record, this 160-pounder qualified for the regional after finishing third at districts. He also won the Romulus Royal Invitational and finished third at Lincoln Park; fifth at Perrysburg. A three-year veteran, Graham had been ranked as high as seventh in the state.

Gary Phillips

A second-year competitor at Belleville, Phillips started out as a heavyweight then trimmed down to compete as a 189-pounder. A senior who managed to overcome injuries and illness, Gary finished third at the last Wolverine 'A' Conference championships. The league will be dissolved after the current school year. "He was a tremendous asset to our team," stressed coach Derek Reed.

Sam Ellis

Usually a top area coach has an outstanding record to justify his - or her - nomination for the honors. But, the 1993 Associated Newspapers' Coach of the Year in wrestling was selected by the ANP staff for his contribution to the sport. This year, veteran coach Sam Ellis, who has coached prep grapplers for the past 19 years, has been chosen for the honor.

Due to technical problems last week, the complete 1992-93 All-Area Wrestling lineup didn't appear in The Associated Newspapers sports section.

Here are the remaining members of the team, selected by the ANP sports staff in cooperation with coaches from local and area high schools.

We are sorry for the delay and any inconvenience it may have caused the candidates and our readers.

Wayne

Overton scored when Tapp drilled a two-out triple, but Putz squelched the Wayne rally by getting the final batter on strikes. Wayne outfielder Phil Snow got off to an excellent start as he had a three-for-three day, including a pair of runs batted in. Moore also collected two hits for the winners. Chronowski said that because of his illness he wasn't able to attend the pre-season conference meeting, therefore, doesn't have a rundown on the preseason title favorites. However, the veteran coach believes that Southgate Anderson, which has gotten off to a 2-0 start, perennial powerhouse Lincoln Park, and defending champ, Monroe, will be leading the charge for the final Wolverine 'A' Conference title.

And what are the odds on Wayne taking it all, coach? "I really don't know. This league is very competitive and, since this is the final year for the conference, anything can happen." The conference will disband after the current school year and regroup in a Mega Conference in the fall.

victory in the 200. Jeff Keith covered the 1,600-meters in 4:40.6 and hurdler John Martin picked up the 300-meters in 41.7. Kevin Gudeth chipped in with a victory in the 800-meter run, finishing the event in 2:05. The Chiefs also won the 3,200 with Shawn McNamara who hit the tape in 10:30. Although both teams were disqualified for stepping out of the lanes in the 800-meter relay, who cleared the high hurdles in 16.7; Nate Lewis, in the long jump, who leaped 19 feet, 8 inches; and Hamilton, in the 1,600-meters who toured the distance in 4:54. Kendrick leaped 6-feet to win the high jump event, and Lunsford crossed the finish line first in the 400-meters (52.5). The Tigers made it a clean sweep with Craig Hogg's victory in the intermediate hurdles, the 300-meters (44.9) and Chris Tuner's 11:03 effort in the 3,200-meters. Medley will take his charges to the prestigious Mansfield, Ohio Relays on Saturday. The Tigers will return to conference competition on Thursday at home to Wyandotte. Medley sees a fierce battle for the final conference title this season, with Wayne, Monroe, Dearborn Fordson and Belleville involved in the dogfight. "There are excellent teams in our league this year," Medley stressed. "And we have some outstanding coaches. Believe me, we're going to have our hands full this year." The conference will disband after the current school year. All the schools in the Wolverine are committed to compete in a Mega Conference this fall.

the Chiefs dominated the 3,200-meter (8:36.56), the 400-meter (46.9) and the 1,600-meter relay events. Shough, who guided his Rockets to a perfect 5-0 record in the division (Lakes) a year ago, says that there is a "tremendous amount of balance in the division this year."

"We're young and inexperienced," the Rocket coach stressed, "so we're going to have to mature fast. Salem, Stevenson and even North Farmington have excellent teams this year." The Westlanders travel to Dearborn on Saturday to compete in the Elks Relays. They will return to dual meet competition on Tuesday at home to Garden City. In the meantime, Canton also will be represented at the Elks and, on April 22, will take on Western Division foe Livonia Churchill in an away meet for their first divisional test.

Some constructive advice about I-94 construction at Metro Airport.

By now, you've probably heard or read about the Michigan Department of Transportation (MDOT) construction project about to get under way at Metro Airport. And while this project will mean safer, better access to the Airport, this news may bring to mind visions of long delays and confusing detours. We'd like to assure you that we'll be doing everything possible to keep you moving at Metro.

During construction, MDOT will maintain the flow of traffic into the airport. Any necessary traffic disruptions will be confined to traffic leaving the airport. In order to help you find the quickest routes possible and avoid delays, MDOT is implementing a major motorist information program. This program includes a toll-free number to call for the latest traffic information, 1-800-968-9394, as well as printed materials at the airport to help you get where you're going in the easiest way possible.

Detour information will be available in all airport terminals, at car rental agencies and at all parking facilities.

1993 CONSTRUCTION CALENDAR

April 14. Preparatory work begins on detour routes.

April 26. Northbound Middlebelt closes from Wick to Smith; I-94 is reduced to two lanes each direction plus an on/off ramp lane in each direction; all ramps from Middlebelt to I-94 are closed, and two ramps to I-94 from Merriman are closed. Most ramps and Middlebelt Road will reopen to traffic at the end of July.

August and September. Northbound Merriman is reduced to one lane north of I-94; the northbound Merriman to eastbound I-94 ramp is closed for two weeks (dates to be determined); the ramp from both southbound and northbound Middlebelt to westbound I-94 remains closed.

Late November to Spring, 1994. I-94 is opened to three lanes each direction plus ramp lanes; Merriman and Middlebelt Roads opened completely; all ramps fully opened for traffic.

Spring-Fall, 1994. Reconstruction work will be limited to I-94 and Merriman north of Flynn Drive.

Students challenge daring Supercross obstacles

Photos by Larry DiVizio

They've found a way to enjoy the outdoors and not become a couch potato.

Their idea of having fun involves hurdling over enormous hills, mastering triple jumps and trying to stay in the air as long as they can.

For Franklin Junior High School students Anthony Tomashewsky of Wayne, Rancil Hughes of Romulus, and Richard Watson of Wayne, the sport of Supercross racing is not just a hobby. All three have been competing for various titles for more than two years.

This weekend Tomashewsky, Hughes and Watson are hoping to qualify to compete in the amateur Coors Light Challenge Camel Supercross series at the Pontiac Silverdome.

The grand prize for the amateur race is $500. The other top prizes include $300, $250 and $100.

More than 10,000 tons of dirt (approximately 600 truckloads) will be hauled into the Silverdome this week to construct a one-of-a-kind Supercross track which will contain diabolical bumps and jumps that will test a rider's skill and stamina.

Tomashewsky, who is in the ninth grade, received his first bike when he was 13 years old.

"I really enjoy biking," Tomashewsky said. "It's better than sitting around here watching television which is really boring."

Hughes has been on a bike since he was 4 years old, and Watson received his first bike when he was 7.

The three friends have been conquering various bike trails together for three years.

"This is the first time we will be competing at the Silver Dome," Tomashewsky said. "We've competed in other races such as the AMA and MRA circuit where I placed first."

The track will be sculpted to include triple jumps, tank traps, table tops, camel backs and whoops. Tomashewsky said he will be riding a 1993 YZ125 Yamaha which can travel up to 60 mph.

Hughes will challenge the track with a 1993 125 Suzuki and Watson will be riding 1991 80 Suzuki.

Tomashewsky's father, Dennis, said the sport of Supercross involves spending approximately 30 percent of the time in the air.

"You worry constantly about them. You worry from the time they take off until the finish line."

Jo Hughes

"It involves a number of technical jumps," Dennis Tomashewsky said. "All three compete throughout the year. They spend quite a bit of time practicing."

Although the students may enjoy the thrill of victory as they roar through the air with blinding speed, their parents only hope they land each hurdle successfully without any injuries.

"You worry constantly about them," said Jo Hughes, Rancil's mother. "You worry from the time they take off until the finish line."

Tomashewsky had a bad fall during one of the races where he damaged his lungs.

Watson was flying through the air and hit a cow at the landing.

Hughes shattered an ankle when his bike fell straight to the ground from a jump.

When the students do compete they are required to wear a helmet, goggles and boots for protection.

Supercross racing is not only an exciting and daring sport, it is also costly, according to Dennis Tomashewsky.

"The bikes run anywhere between $3,300 and $3,600," Tomashewsky said. "By the time you purchase helmets, chest protectors, goggles and other equipment, you're talking about an additional $1,500. The most important thing, however, is that they enjoy it."

The three friends are very serious about going professional in the near future.

"I definitely want to go pro," Watson said. "I really enjoy being in the air and going fast."

Hughes, who has been on the bike the longest, captured many first place prizes and also wants to become a professional Supercross racer.

"I like the competition aspect and going fast," Hughes said.

More than 1,000 hay bales will be added to outline the track as well as soften the landing of an unexpected mishap at the Silverdome.

The obstacles are expected to hurdle riders more than 70 feet in the air.

Professional Supercross challengers will include Guy

"Airtime" Cooper. He is the elder statesman of the Camel Supercross series as he checks in at 31 in a sport where the average age is 22. Cooper won the 1990 125cc Outdoor National Championship.

Other professional racers will include Damon Bradshaw. He returns to the Team Yamaha in 1993 after signing a five-year contract. He received the contract after posting a record nine Camel Supercross victories in a season.

The students will be qualifying to compete in the amateur race Saturday morning. The amateur Supercross competition is scheduled for Sunday.

Students sing in Carnegie Hall

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

It was their dream to become a part of history by taking center stage at Carnegie Hall.

In less than one month, students from the John Glenn Choral Department will fulfill their wishes as they take part in a 200-voice chorus which involves four or five schools from across the U.S.

For more than six months the students and staff from John Glenn have been trying to gather $49,000 to fund the trip. Their efforts have paid off, according to Marjorie Kolacz, general chairwoman of the Carnegie Hall Trip.

"We have reached our goal," Kolacz said. "We raised $11,000 with the silent auction we had a few weeks back. The students had to pay a little on their own, so we're hoping for more donations so we can give them back some money."

Besides the auction, the students and staff had a fund raiser at Arby's in Garden City and sold Burger King coupon booklets for $1. They also had a successful spaghetti dinner and car wash.

The 200-voice chorus will perform May 30 at Carnegie Hall. The chorus will be conducted by Dr. Jerry Blackstone from the University of Michigan, according to Judith A. Premin, conductor/director of the John Glenn music department.

"We've had several auditions," Premin said. "It was very difficult to not be able to take everyone, but we are all excited about being asked to become a part of history. It's an honor."

Approximately 36 students and 13 adults will be representing John Glenn, according to Premin.

Any residents or businesses interested in contributing to the event can call Kolacz at 722-7426 or send a check or money order to: John Glenn High School Choral Department, Carnegie Hall Trip, P.O. Box 563, Wayne Mich. 48184.

Adopt-A-Pet

It is that time of year. Spring, when thoughts turn to new beginnings and new adventures. And what better time to think about an addition to the family. Last week, more than 30 families took advantage of the services of the Michigan Humane Society and adopted new pets from the Westland Shelter.

The process is simple. Those seeking that perfect pet simply visit the shelter and select one of the eager animals awaiting adoption. Then, an adoption counselor will help the prospective owner complete a questionnaire regarding the care of the animal and the home into which it may go.

After that, the adoption documents are signed and the wiggly bundle of fur and affection is ready to travel home with a new family.

Michigan Humane Society officials are careful to point out that inoculations and sterilization of all animals must be guaranteed by the new owner and there is a moderate adoption fee and a sterilization deposit requested for puppies and kittens who may not yet have all their inoculations or be neutered.

At present, more than 30 animals await new homes and spring will bring in many new litters of puppies and kittens needing homes. And, as usual, there are several adult animals who have been abandoned, lost or given up by their owners.

The shelter, located at 37255 Marquette Road in Westland, serves the entire area and is open for adoptions from 10 a.m. until 4:30 Mondays through Saturdays.

Further information is available at 721-7300.

New device helps encourage children to use seat belts

Getting youngsters to wear seat belts is important—and now Pontiac Motor Division has installed an adjustable rear shoulder belt guide on Grand Am and Sunbird models which encourages youngsters to wear the belt system.

Known as the Child Comfort Guide, the device—which is small enough to fit in the palm of your hand—permits most children (ages 4-10), as well as shorter adults, to more comfortably wear the vehicle rear seat shoulder belt without the belt coming into contact with their face and/or neck.

The system is located between the rear seat cushion and quarter trim and is engaged when the shoulder belt is inserted into the guide clip. The clip is attached to an elastic cord that gently adjusts the shoulder belt out of the way of the child's face and neck. When not in use the guide is concealed from view.

The device is also available on Bonneville, Grand Am and LeMans sedans which feature rear door child security locks.

In addition, all Pontiac vehicles possess infant seat retainers located in the package shelf behind the rear seat. When attached to the retainer, the infant seat is less likely to tip forward in the event of a collision.

The Pontiac Child Comfort Guide was developed as a result of a clinic conducted at the General Motors World of Motion Exhibit at the Walt Disney Epcot Center in Orlando. The clinic revealed a strong interest by consumers in such a device, based on feedback from children and their parents who tested prototype designs aimed at improving seat/shoulder belt comfort.

Chevrolet plans Camaro reunion

Chevrolet Motor Division, in cooperation with the U.S. Camaro Club, will sponsor a special Camaro Pace Car Reunion over the weekend of May 21, 22, and 23 at the Brickyard in Indianapolis. The event, much of which will take place at the Indy Speedway, is open to all Camaro owners, with a special invitation to those lucky enough to be owners of Camaro pace cars.

The event celebrates the fact that for the fourth time in its history, the Camaro has been given the honor of being out front when the green flag drops on another Indy 500. This fourth appearance is a record for any car—and it also marks a record ninth time a Chevrolet has paced the greatest spectacle in racing.

Attendance will be limited to 1,700 cars and interested parties should contact the U.S. Camaro Club as soon as possible for information concerning scheduling and fees.

All Camaro owners are welcome, but Camaro Pace Car owners are especially encouraged to attend. Tentative plans for the event include special track parking, a show and shine event, a cocktail party, museum tours, a Camaro cruise night, a driver autograph session and more.

Due to space limitations, attendance will be limited to 1,700 cars and interested parties should contact the U.S. Camaro Club as soon as possible for information concerning scheduling and fees. The U.S. Camaro Club can be reached by mail at P.O. Box 608167, Orlando, Fla. 32860, or by calling (407) 880-1967, weekdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. EST.

Schools file racial discrimination charge

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

The Romulus schools officially filed complaints with state and federal civil rights groups in an effort to have district athletic teams gain access to the newly-created 22 school Mega League.

District attorneys have charged that Romulus teams are being blocked from league competition because the school population is more than 35 percent black.

Superintendent of Romulus Schools Dr. William Bedell recently mailed a complaint to the Federal Civil Rights Division of the Department of Education in Cleveland.

On Good Friday, Bedell and special school attorney Robert Lusk filed another written complaint during a visit to the Michigan Civil Rights Commission in Detroit.

Bedell said they spent several hours in the commission office as it appears that the complaint is "one of the more complex that the civil rights unit has been called to handle."

The superintendent was not sure whether any action from either the state or national level would occur in time to impact the first season of the Mega League this fall.

"The national civil rights unit could have a powerful impact on the issue as it has the power to suspend federal educational dollars from schools that practice discrimination in either sports or educational areas."

Dr. William Bedell

"No time elements were expressed, but we tend to believe we may hear from the national civil rights group first," Bedell explained.

Bedell said the Romulus school system is listing complaints against all 22 league school members, since Romulus and Highland Park High School are the only two Class A schools not invited to participate in the league.

Romulus lists a 35 percent black student ratio, Bedell said, and Highland Park reports a 99.95 percent black student enrollment.

Those Class A schools in Wayne County that have been invited to join the league and have a substantial black student make-up include the Wayne-Westland schools with a 13 percent ratio and Van Buren High School with an 18 percent listing.

Romulus also is pressing the fact that geographically Romulus Senior High School is in the center of the Mega League conference.

The national civil rights unit could have a powerful impact on the issue, Bedell said, as it has the power to suspend federal educational dollars from schools that practice discrimination in either sports or educational areas.

The Romulus School Board authorized Bedell on April 5 to take such legal action following months of discussion of the issue.

High School Principal Tom Dolan and Athletic Director Jesse Meriweather have been strong advocates of league entry, citing powerful Romulus athletic play in both football and basketball already this school year and the opening recently of an impressive $4 million athletic complex at the rear of the school.

In addition, Dolan stressed, there have been no complaints from high schools Romulus has competed against this year. "Not only have there been no complaints about our players or fans," Dolan said, "but we have been awarded a number of good sportsmanship certificates for our competitive level."

Arrestment set for Inkster resident

An Inkster man charged with armed robbery is expected to appear in Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court for an arraignment on information.

Jovan Claybron, 18, allegedly took an unknown amount of money at gunpoint from a clerk at the 7-11 Food Store in Wayne, 32324 Annapolis, 12:20 a.m. March 26, according to Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews.

"He was arraigned April 2, and a not-guilty plea was entered," Drews said. "A $25,000 cash bond was set."

Claybron appeared for an examination April 14 before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold, and the $25,000 cash bond was reduced to $10,000 or 10 percent."

Vandals destroy cars

Vandals some time over the Easter weekend destroyed 14 new and used cars at a Canton Township auto body shop, police said Monday.

Officer Tammie Colling said one or more unidentified people climbed a rear fence at the Hines Park Lincoln-Mercury body shop, 41000 Capital, and proceeded to slash, smash and bash 14 Ford and Mercury cars causing thousands in damage and major headaches for shop management and owners of the vandalized automobiles. Intruders also managed to escape with an undetermined amount of car accessories, including speakers and seats. The repair shop is a branch of Hines Park Lincoln-Mercury in Plymouth.

A Hines Park employee Monday said it also appeared someone found a set of keys for one vehicle, started it and pulverized several other cars parked in the lot. Other cars, the employee said, had their interiors sliced to ribbons by a sharp object.

Officer OK after rear-end collision

Six sutures to the head were the only lasting injuries suffered Monday night by a Canton Township police officer involved in an automobile collision.

Officer Scott Hughesdon was stopped in a township patrol car at an eastbound Ford Road red light near the I-275 overpass when a Garden City woman plowed her vehicle into the back end of his car. Hughesdon was transported to St. Mary's Hospital in Livonia with the head injury and was back on the job by Wednesday. The police vehicle was heavily damaged. The unnamed driver, police said, was not seriously hurt and alcohol was not believed to be a factor.

Judge clarifies court actions

Carolyn Archbold, 29th District Court Judge, and her staff are concerned that the reported problems of other courts not reflect on the 29th District Court in Wayne.

The Michigan Supreme Court Finance Department periodically audits the state courts. The 29th District Court underwent such an audit in March of this year. The report received by the court reads, "The internal control and accounting system presently being utilized by the district court (29th) is considered to be excellent and the court is appropriately commended for the separation of duties and sound controls that are being maintained for safeguarding receipts."

Mollie Goudy dies at 84

By MARGO DEWEY

Her smile will be long remembered by those who knew her throughout the area.

Wayne resident Mollie Goudy, 84, died Easter Sunday leaving behind her friend and devoted brother Henry (Hank) Goudy.

Miss Goudy suffered a slight stroke approximately three months ago, according to her brother. She died in her home on Sims street where all four of the Goudy children were born and raised, according to Hank Goudy.

"I'm going to miss her," her brother said. "She was a loving daughter and devoted sister. She did an awful lot of volunteer work."

Miss Goudy offered a helping hand at the Ann Arbor Auxiliary and the Wayne County General Hospital as an attendant.

A Wayne High graduate, Miss Goudy was a member of the Wayne Senior Advisory Council.

"She was very active in bowling," her brother recalled. "She even won several trophies. She continued to keep up the old homestead."

Hank Goudy said one of his fondest memories of his sister was when he square danced at various functions with her throughout the years.

"We learned as children how to square dance," he said. "We kind of learned together."

Funeral services for Miss Goudy were scheduled Friday at St. John's Lutheran Church. She was buried this weekend at Glen Eden Memorial Park near her family members.

Charles and Wilhelmina Goudy had four children: Otto (eldest brother), Hattie (eldest sister), Mollie and Hank.

Last September Mollie and Hank Goudy participated in the grand opening ceremony of the Goudy Park amphitheater which is situated behind City Hall.

The amphitheater was dedicated to the Goudy family. Hank's father operated a lumber and coal yard on Michigan Avenue, at the present site of the Transco Co. building immediately east of the National Bank of Detroit.

In 1911, the Village of Wayne appointed Charles Goudy as the first village Department of Public Works superintendent.

Public phones pay off big for drug dealers

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

The proliferation of public telephones in parking lots and shopping malls in the city of Inkster has become a "grave concern" to city officials in that city.

Installed by private contractors near or adjacent to Michigan Bell phones, the rash of new phones are apparently being used by local drug dealers to conduct illegal drug transactions, according to city and police officials.

A top Inkster police official met with Michigan Bell representatives on Tuesday to see what, if anything, can be done to stop the illegal use of the phone lines.

"We do have some troubled areas," said Lt. Wilbert Reid, "and we are getting the cooperation of Michigan Bell to address this problem. Right now, we don't want to discuss this publicly for obvious reasons. We don't want to show our hands to the dealers."

"We do have some troubled areas and we are getting the cooperation of Michigan Bell to address this problem."

According to police reports, police have arrested would-be drug users who have set up buys at pay phones in Inkster. Many of the suspects are not local, but are residents of Westland, Garden City and Dearborn Heights. The telephones on Notre Dame Street and Bayham apparently are among the most frequently used by drug users and sellers.

However, phones in the area of Cherry Hill and Middlebelt Road, Michigan Avenue and Middlebelt, where there are about 20 pay-phones, are also popular places to put in calls for drugs, according to police.

City officials said that many of the newer telephones are being installed on privately-owned property and, therefore, can't be removed unless the owner is contacted and agrees to have them removed.

John M. Clemens, a first-term Inkster council member, urged the city administration to take legal action to remove the phones.

"You see kids hanging out around those phones at all hours of the night, and we all know why they are there," Clemens said. "These kids are using flashlights to let their customers know if the coast is clear."

"Something must be done."

Clemens also explained that public phones are

Teens charged in computer theft get 'second chance'

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Three Romulus teens apprehended recently in connection with the theft of more than $20,000 worth of computers from Romulus schools, will learn on April 30 if they are eligible for the Wayne County criminal diversion program.

If the three, two 19-year-old males and an 18-year-old woman, are accepted in the non-violent program, they will face 12 months of supervised lifestyles by county law enforcement agents.

If they complete the year-long program without any other infractions, they will have the criminal charges expunged from their records and have the police copies of their fingerprints returned to them.

If, however, the county diversion team rejects them from the program on April 30, the three Romulus graduates will be formally arraigned on theft and possession of stolen property charges in the 34th District Court of Romulus.

They then would proceed with the normal court proceedings.

The diversion program was set up to give various first-time offenders a "second chance" at keeping a clean record.

Romulus police said the systematic computer thefts from Wick Elementary school occurred last summer.

One of the males formerly worked as a lunch time aide at the school and the other had been selected by his class as "most likely to succeed."

All but about $7,000 worth of computers reportedly were recovered. Part of the diversion program is the requirement that the cost of all unrecovered stolen property must be reimbursed by the defendants.

Smile is secretarial
strong suit

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Whether answering the phone or greeting citizens at the Belleville municipal offices, Tina Wyatt has a helpful attitude and a cheerful voice.

"She's cheerful and helpful to the citizens and employees. Tina is a dependable employee and is part of the team," said Belleville City Manager Jeff Przygocki.

Several residents echoed the city manager's comments, emphasizing Wyatt's cheerfulness and helpfulness.

Wyatt will mark her fifth year as secretary to the city manager on April 25. Prior to that time, she was employed as a secretary by an employment company.

"I like my job and I like the people I meet through my job. We also have a nice staff. They are always ready to help, if extra help is needed," said Wyatt.

Wyatt is a graduate of Dorsey Business School with training as a legal secretary. She was hired immediately after graduation by an employment agency where she served as a secretary for six to eight people.

"I was working 11 hours a day for the agency. It was very busy, especially when the consultants were placing job ads," Wyatt said. "I realized that there was no place for me to advance there, and I started looking for another job."

Wyatt spotted an advertisement for the Belleville job, and submitted her application.

"My aunt lives in Van Buren Township and I always thought the Belleville area was a nice place to live and work," Wyatt said. "I was hired by former City Manager Bob Herron. Six months after I started working here, he showed me a large file full of papers and told me that they were all applications for my job. Then,

Top secretary is valued know-it-all

By MARGO DEWEY

She knows something about nearly everything and is considered almost indispensable. And that's what earned her the nomination as a "Super Secretary" from her boss and co-worker at Northside True Value Hardware in Wayne.

Ethel Fallert was selected by the Associated Newspapers as the top choice in the Super Secretary contest based on an entry from her boss Philip Kaplan, owner of Northside, and co-worker Vicki Partaka.

Fallert has worked at Northside for 15 years this September. Her boss knows he can count on her for any project, according to the letter he submitted.

"We all benefit from Ethel's employment at Northside," Kaplan said. "She not only does her regular duties, but "When it comes to the City of Wayne's yearly sidewalk sale, Northside's traditional hot dog stand wouldn't be the same without Ethel being there to run it."

Vicki Partaka

she goes the extra mile to help employees with their problems.

"She's a very patient and dependable person and she's terrific at problem solving."

Fallert said she enjoys working at Northside because it's like a second family for her.

"I run the office, make sure all the computers stay running and take care of everyone's schedules," Fallert said. "The people here are great. They are like a family."

Fallert schedules more than 50 people at Northside at one time, according to Partaka.

"Her job consists of so many different things from programming our computers to so much more that is too numerous to mention," Partaka said. "When it comes to the City of Wayne's yearly sidewalk sale, Northside's traditional hot dog stand wouldn't be the same without Ethel being there to run it."

"She's a very warm, kind-hearted, hardworking woman. As stressful as her job must be, she always seems to have a smile for everyone."

Partaka stated in her letter that Fallert enjoys reading, traveling, and is a "big Eastern football fan."

Fallert has been married to her husband, artist Arthur Fallert, for 30 years. They have two sons, John and David.

The couple has lived in Westland for 26 years. Fallert said she intends on staying with Northside in the near future.

"My husband who is an artist may retire in a few years so I don't know just yet what we'll do," Fallert said.

When and if Fallert leaves one day, all the Northside employees and Kaplan will miss her, according to Partaka.

"Ethel is a 'Super Secretary' at Northside, and it wouldn't run as smooth without her," Partaka said.

Recreation secretary is real winner

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

A good secretary is supposed to make the company and the boss look good. And also possess an unlimited amount of patience and understanding.

Diane Moore, who has served as an Inkster Parks and Recreation Department secretary since 1989, fits that description perfectly.

And sometimes one wonders where the Moore, the mother of two grown children, gets all the energy to accomplish the myriad of tasks that go along with her job.

The recreation center in Inkster, as in many cities, is the hub of programs and projects of a city, and most of the activities converge upon the recreation department secretary - or secretaries - in the form of paper and telephone work.

And you better know how to organize or you're in trouble.

"You have to be in control of what is happening and not fall behind," said Moore. "You also have to know how to delegate some of the work. It is very important to work together and communicate."

"I think most problems occur because of a lack of communications," Moore stressed.

Raised in Inkster - she attended Cherry Hill High School - the soft-spoken Moore is the wife of an Inkster firefighter. They have two grown children - Tony, 21, who is attending Western Michigan University in Kalamazoo and, Deanne, 23, who also lives in Inkster and is employed as a respiratory therapist at Henry Ford Hospital in Detroit.

Moore said that she enjoys meeting people and "seldom has a problem with the public."

"There are always some who may have gotten up on the wrong side of the bed, but you try to be understanding and compensate for that. And I have discovered that you will never have problems if you're a good listener."

Ron Wolkowicz, director of Inkster parks and recreation, lauded Moore for "her strengths and the ability to handle multiple major programs at one time."

"Placed in a similar situation, many would become frustrated," Wolkowicz noted. "Not Diane."

"I view her more as a traffic controller, who has the unique ability to keep things moving right along - such as our Memorial Day Parade - without displaying the usual despair and frustrations that go along with tough jobs."

Longevity pays off in Canton

By CRAIG GARRETT
ANP Staff Writer

Canton was "just country" when Doris Kelley started her career with the township 24 years ago.

"The building department was a mobile home and we handled water bills on a Burroughs (adding) machine, bill-by-bill," the veteran employee said. "It's changed a lot since then. We're not the little country store anymore."

Kelley is the longest serving secretary/receptionist in Canton having started Sept. 2, 1969 at the old township hall on Geddes Road. At that time, Kelley said, secretarial duties included taxes and billing for each department handling the services of some 11,000 residents, plus related general paperwork activities.

Kelley also took notes and transcribed minutes for the planning commission, board of trustees and zoning board during evening hours.

"It's changed a lot since then. We're not the little country store anymore."

Doris Kelley

"At least I knew everything that was going on," Kelley joked.

In 1975 she took on the primary role of secretary to John Flodin and held that job until the legendary township clerk died in 1984.

"He (Flodin) was the greatest man I've ever known," said Kelley. "He was a wonderful compromiser and had the most optimistic attitude. I think that was the best time of my (working) life."

Things soured slightly, Kelley said, when a newly-elected clerk moved her to a desk job where she stayed until Loren Bennett was elected to the clerk's office in 1988. She traded for the receptionist's job two years ago and has never been happier.

"Doris is just wonderful with people," Bennett said. "I've talked with so many residents and township guests who have said they left (Township Hall) feeling good about Canton. She's just a joy to be around, but then again so is my whole staff."

Kelley has no plans to retire despite just turning 62 recently.

"I like the discipline of getting up and the feeling of Friday with the weekend just ahead," she said. "Maybe I'll leave at 65, but I don't think so. Working makes each day different."

Bank counts on nominee's skills

By AL POST
ANP Staff Writer

Eleanor Miller, who has been a bank secretary for 24 years, is so efficient, her boss, Andy Solak, assistant vice president of the Comerica Bank branch in Romulus, said that many customers think she is part of top management.

Miller, who actually got into secretarial work through an educational co-op program while a student at Robichaud High School, "goes well beyond the normal call of duty in her relationships with customers," Solak said.

"She surpasses every element you could place in a job description," Solak said, and he found it wasn't hard for him to recommend her for the Associated Newspapers Super Secretary designation.

Miller, who served her co-op time at the Manufacturers Bank in Dearborn 24 years ago, came to Romulus in 1970.

The job environment has changed somewhat over the past two decades, Miller explained, with the advancement of computer programming and the advent of facsimile (fax) machines.

"We always had computers," she said, "but never the personal types we have today that greatly advance your ability to communicate with other staff members and the public."

"But the introduction of fax machines has been a godsend to those businesses (like the banking industry) that require such total correctness of information," she continued.

Miller said she gets her emotional highs daily from helping customers and has grown to know thousands in more than two decades of work in Romulus.

Since the educational co-op was such a boon to her career, Miller said, she is extremely glad she can pass on that heritage to students today.

Like those before her, Miller urges students to get the best grades possible and always try to reach the highest in potential—whether it is in the classroom or in a sports arena.

Miller said she also continues to stress advanced education with the students working at Comerica, warning them that the work place is becoming more intense and competitive.

"Staying informed with the latest in job skills—particularly those in the computer field—improve your job potential," she tells the aspiring youths.

"Once you become a full-time employee, Miller said, "many companies, like Comerica, will help fund your college studies if you keep a C average or better."

In addition to helping students, Miller said, it has been interesting to witness the growth of her customer's children and to see them become customers themselves now.

Key employee keeps mayor on target

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Executive Secretary Nora Herbert was nominated by her boss, Westland Mayor Robert J. Thomas, for the Super Secretary designation.

Herbert has been the mayor's secretary for three years and a city secretary for the past 18 years, working in several municipal departments.

Herbert, a 46-year-old Westland resident, began her secretarial career with the city in the Parks and Recreation Department. From there she moved on to the department of public service, personnel department, finance department, assessor's office, and the city clerk's office. Her last city position, before she was appointed to the mayor's office, was secretary for labor relations.

Herbert said she likes just about everything about her job, but especially likes the feeling of completing a project.

"I like knowing I've taken something from beginning to end. I like knowing a project came out just like I wanted it to," Herbert said.

Herbert said she could not afford to go to college and since she always enjoyed office work, she began her career as a secretary.

Herbert grew up in Pontiac, but has been a Westland resident for the past 23 years. Herbert is married, has a son, daughter, step-daughter and two grandchildren who all reside in Westland.

Herbert said what makes her a good secretary is her ability to anticipate what needs to be done.

"I can usually read what the mayor wants done," she said.

She said the most unpleasant part of her job is dealing with irate people.

"I really enjoy everything I do, except dealing with people that don't want to be dealt with," Herbert said.

However, Herbert said she feels a sense of accomplishment when people who are upset when they come in, leave with a different attitude.

"A good secretary is organized, efficient and must be able to drop one thing and jump into something else," she said.

Herbert also said secretaries must be patient and willing to bend.

"You can't take everything at face value," she said.

Wyatt keeps busy with a variety of duties. In addition to performing secretaries duties for the city manger, she answers general phone calls, prepares the agenda packets for the mayor and council and schedules city facilities. She is also training to work in the building department.

"I make appointments for the mayor to perform weddings, and I schedule the rental of Victory Station, the gazebo and the rose arbor (in Horizon Park) for weddings and other events," she said. "I scheduled the rose arbor for my wedding in a couple of weeks."

Wyatt plans to marry city employee Steve Demond, who worked with her to coordinate the successful Fabulous '50s Day in Belleville last September.

"I really enjoy living and working in the Belleville area. I work closely with the public and I've gotten to know many of the residents. I started working here in April and by the time of the Strawberry Festival (mid-June), I was surprised at how many people recognized me. It's nice to walk down the street and have so many people say, 'hi,'" Wyatt said. "Six months after I took the job, I decided to move to the area. People were so helpful to me when I moved. Business people called to ask if I needed boxes."

Nora Herbert

Herbert said she really enjoys working with the people and staff.

"I really enjoy what I'm doing. It's better than any position that I've ever held," Herbert said.

Thomas said Herbert was one of the best choices he made among his staff.

"I know that when I give her a project to do it will be handled to the best of her ability and the outcome will be nothing less than another job well done," Mayor Thomas said.

"... I would be extremely happy if Nora was selected (as a Super Secretary), but the way I see it, she has already earned the title," Thomas said.

usually the object of vandals because they "are easy hits."

"But you don't see any of those phones vandalized because they are protected, and we all know by whom."

Inkster City Attorney Milton Spokojny said that local municipalities have difficulty waging a legal battle to remove phones "in these cases because you're dealing with Interstate Commerce."

But Danny Williams, a community activist, said that the city could ask Michigan Bell to consider limiting access to the phones during the evening hours, when most of the illegal drug transactions are conducted.

"It's not that difficult to solve this problem," Williams said. "We know where the problem areas are, so if calls are placed in those areas become operator assisted, you can bet that drug users and dealers will back off."

"No drug user or seller wants to give their telephone numbers out. It worked in Illinois where Bell had similar problems. If we do this here, then people who have a legitimate reason for using the telephones could. Those that don't will move elsewhere."

Michigan Bell spokesperson Frank Weathers, who toured the troubled areas with Lt. Reid last Tuesday, said that Michigan Bell is eager to cooperate with the city of Inkster.

"We are sensitive to the needs of the city," Weathers said. "And we are working with them to resolve this problem."

Murder trial delayed

The murder trial of former Romulus resident, Daniel Ray Dowling, 44, has been scheduled for Nov. 2.

Dowling is charged with the shooting death of his former live-in girl friend, Joanne Lincoln, 23, on Aug. 28, 1978.

Lincoln suffered head wounds and died two days later, a Wayne County Deputy Sheriff said.

Dowling was questioned shortly after the shooting, but never charged at the time.

In November 1992 a former friend of Dowling's supplied additional information and testimony that led to Dowling's arrest at his place of business in Front Royal, Va.

Dowling continues to claim the bullet that killed Lincoln came from outside their apartment window.

At this point, investigators said, the charge against Dowling remains an "open murder" complaint.

CITY OF INKSTER COMBINED NOTICE

NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT ON THE ENVIRONMENT AND NOTICE TO PUBLIC OF REQUEST FOR RELEASE OF FUNDS

TO ALL INTERESTED AGENCIES, GROUPS AND PERSONS: On or about May 5, 1993 the above named City will request the State of Michigan to release Federal funds under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974 (P.L. 93-383) for the following project:

Beech Daly Redevelopment Project Road and Sewer Improvements, Inkster, Michigan #5710

Finding of No Significant Impact

It has been determined that such request for release of funds will not constitute an action significantly affecting the quality of the human environment and accordingly the above-named City has decided not to prepare an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (P.L. 91-190). The reasons for such decision not to prepare such Statement are as follows:

1. The project will redevelop Beech Daly Road which will improve travel and access to low and moderate income neighborhoods in the City of Inkster.
2. The socioeconomic impact of this project is positive as it will increase property values, expand housing resources and employment in the area, and help maintain affordable housing costs and develop commercial and office facilities accessible to low and moderate income families and households in the area.
3. The adverse effects of the project can be mitigated through project management and contractual requirements being implemented during construction. Further, the City of Inkster has established a Citizens District Council for the area to address short and long term needs of the project area and responds to associated short term problems.

An Environmental Review Record respecting the proposed project has been made by the above-named City which documents the environmental review of the project and more fully sets forth the reasons why such Statement is not required. This Environmental Review Record is on file at the above address and is available for public examination and copying upon request at No further environmental review of such project is proposed to be conducted prior to the request for release of Federal funds.

Public Comments on Finding

All interested agencies, groups and persons disagreeing with this decision are invited to submit written comments for consideration by the City of Inkster to the Community Development Department on or before May 5, 1993. All such comments so received will be considered and the City will not request the release of Federal funds or take any administrative action on the proposed project prior to the date specified in the preceding sentence.

Release of Funds

City of Inkster will undertake the project described above with Community Development Block Grant funds from the State of Michigan under Title I of the Housing and Community Development Act of 1974. City of Inkster is certifying to the State of Michigan that The City of Inkster and Edward Bivens, Jr. in her/his official capacity as Mayor consent to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to environmental reviews, decision-making and action; and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. The legal effect of the certification is that upon its approval City of Inkster may use the Block Grant funds and the State will have satisfied its responsibilities under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969.

OBJECTIONS TO STATE RELEASE OF FUNDS

The State of Michigan will accept an objection to its approval only if it is on one of the following bases: (a) that the certification was not in fact executed by the certifying officer or other officer of applicant approved by the State of Michigan; or (b) that applicant's environmental review record for the project indicated omission of a required decision finding or step applicable to the project in the environmental review process. Objections must be prepared and submitted to the State of Michigan, Department of Commerce, Office of Federal Grants, P.O. Box 30225, Lansing, Michigan 48909. Objections to the release of funds on bases other than those stated above will not be considered by the State. No objection received after May 5, 1993 will be considered by the State.

Sparkling jewel of Wayne County Belleville Lake

Belleville Lake, the only inland lake in Wayne County, has been dubbed the "jewel" of Van Buren Township.

The 1,260 acre man-made lake, created in the 1920s by the damming of the Huron River, provides a site for boating, fishing, water skiing and swimming. Two private marinas, a private launch site and a Department of Natural Resources launch facility provide access to the lake.

During the winter, sportsmen fish through the ice, and at the first thawing of spring, hardy water skiers glide through the open channels.

Year around, fishermen cast their lines into the lake from boats and along the shoreline, catching a variety of fish from walleyes and bass to suckers and crappies.

"The Huron River - and the lake close to the dam - is where it is at. Fishing from boats isn't good, but fishing is good along the shore near the river," said Tim Katona, owner of South Street Tackle in Belleville. "The reason fishing isn't good now, is that many fishermen are fishing incorrectly. They should be using small bait, like they would for ice fishing. It's spring, but the water is still icy.

"Suckers are running up the river and fishermen are catching a lot. They are excellent for smoking or frying. Crappies are plentiful below the French Landing Dam," Katona said. "The walleyes are spawning, and a lot of fishermen are catching and releasing them. The season doesn't open until April 24."

In preparation of the spring-summer boating and fishing season, I-94 Marine and South Street Tackle are sponsoring a noon to 6 p.m. open house at 43466 North Interstate-94 Service Drive. The event will feature a Great Lakes fishing seminar, bass fishing seminar, casting contest, kids' clinic and a boating safety clinic presented by the Van Buren Township Marine Division.

"Our bass seminar will offer tips to prepare fishermen for our Tuesday Night Tournaments (TNT). Beginning on the Tuesday after Memorial Day, we sponsor 16 TNT events in a row for two-man teams. For those who participate in at least 10 of them, there will be a classic tournament at the end of the season," Katona said. "Fishermen go out on the lake from the DNR public access site from 5 to 9 p.m. each Tuesday, and then bring their catch back to be weighed. Our weigh-ins attract a lot of people who just stop by to see how big the catches are."

The next big event on the lake will be the May 20 visit of a flotilla of canoes which will navigate the Huron River from its origin in Oakland County through Belleville Lake and on to Lake Erie. Canoeists from the Riverfest '93 trip will dock at the Moose Lodge 934 for lunch, and be met by dignitaries from local government and service groups.

Area residents who want to cruise the lake will have an opportunity to do so in mid-June.

From June 9 through 21, the Van Buren Parks and Recreation Department is sponsoring cruises by the Princess Laura, a replica of an 1800s paddlewheel riverboat. Lunch and dinner cruises as well as midnight cruises and afternoon rides will be offered.

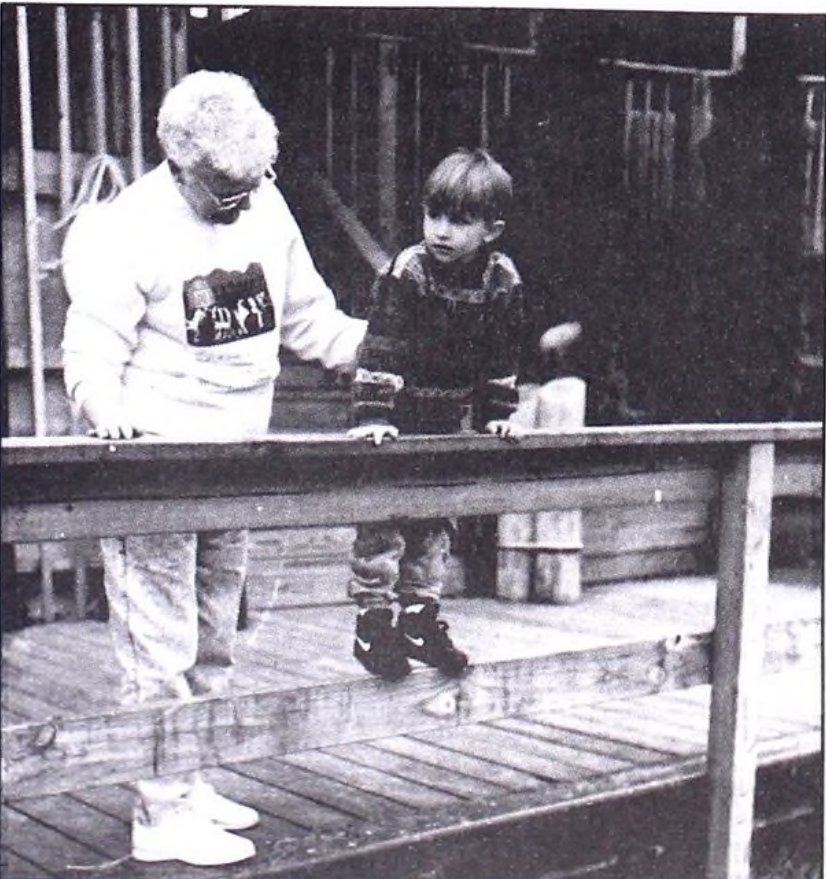

Throughout the year, a variety of events brings the sparkle into the jewel of Van Buren Township and provides recreation to thousands of area residents.

Earth Day

Crusade continues to save environment

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

Since the first Earth Day observance occurred, western Wayne County residents have taken many steps forward in their crusade to preserve the environment for future generations.

The past practice of discarding newspapers, bottles and cans is being replaced by visits to community recycling centers. Many communities are adopting curbside pickups of recyclables, and businesses are responding to requests for more ecologically-appropriate packaging of their goods.

Most communities recycle cans, aluminum, glass, newspapers, cardboard and plastics and provide sites for waste oil.

Van Buren Township employees practice what they preach, according to Department of Public Works Director Robert Gregory.

"Each department has containers for waste paper that is saved for recycling," Gregory said.

"Many products in homes contain chemicals that can be dangerous in the event of accident poisoning or fire. When discarded, the products can contribute to the contamination of the soil, water and air," said Van Buren Township Environmental Manager Ray Striz, who oversees the recycling program. "You can reduce this risk by using alternatives or, if none are available, buy only what you will use in the immediate future."

The environmentalist suggested several alternates to household hazardous materials:

Tips for recycling

Recycling cans, bottles and newspapers is second-nature to many environmentally conscious residents of western Wayne County, but the process may be unfamiliar to new residents or those whose communities have not.

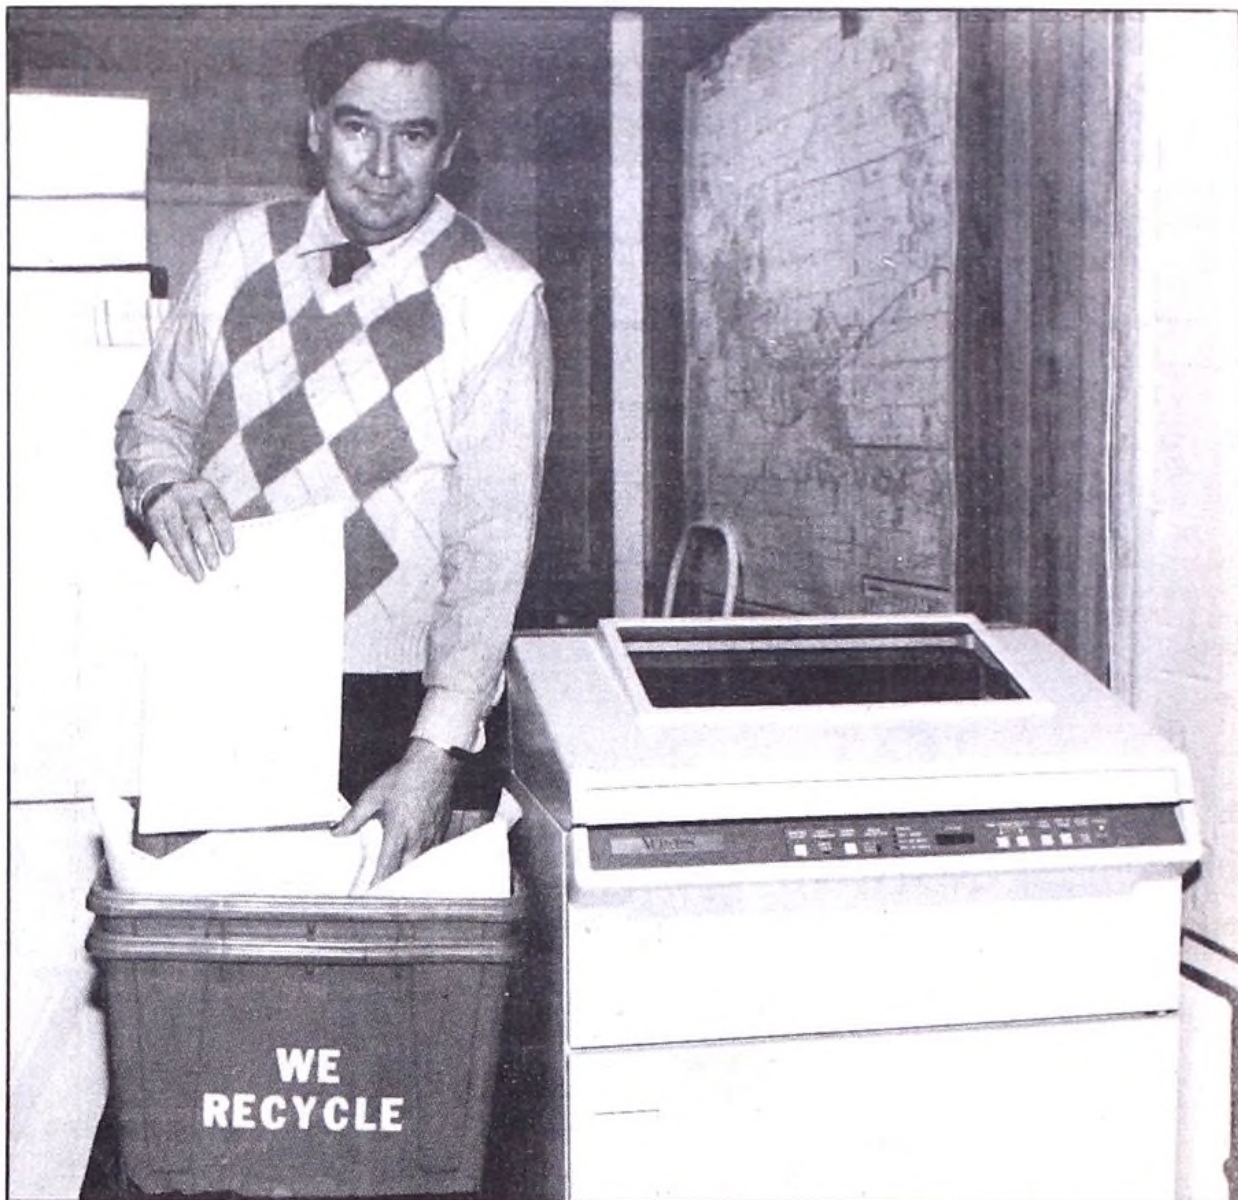

The following tips will help household members to correctly prepare items for recycling:

- Steel/bi-metal cans: Cans should be rinsed and labels removed. Both ends should be removed and the cans flattened.
 - Aluminum: Beverage containers and clean foil are acceptable. Containers should be rinsed, and items such as foil, pie tins and other aluminum should be rinsed and balled up.
 - Glass: Only bottles and jars are acceptable. Glass should be rinsed and lids removed. Green, brown and clear glass should be color sorted and separated.
 - Newspapers: Glossy inserts should be removed. Newspapers should be placed in a bag or tied loosely with twine. Computer paper also is acceptable for recycling.
 - Cardboard: Corrugated cardboard is accepted, and paperboard (such as cereal boxes) is not. Cardboard should be flattened, stacked and tied with twine.
 - Plastic: Containers marked "1" and "2" are acceptable, with the exception of motor oil containers. Containers should be rinsed and labels removed.
- Special sites are available for batteries, paints and used oil. Area residents should contact their municipal offices for information on these sites, and the hours of operation for local recycling collection sites.

- Fungicides can be replaced by watering less or by planting water-loving species.
- House plant insecticides can be replaced by mixing a bar of soap and water (or old dishwater) in a spray and rinsing leaves regularly.
- Flea collars and sprays can be replaced by using cedar, rosemary, eucalyptus oil on a cotton collar and including brewer's yeast in the pet's diet.
- An alternate to rodent poisons are live traps and the removal of foods in the area.
- Carpet freshener can be replaced by putting herbs in the vacuum cleaner bag or sprinkling baking soda on the carpet.

- Bleach can be replaced by one-half cup of vinegar or borax.
- Instead of mothballs, cedar chips can be used.
- Abrasive cleaners can be replaced by borax and lemon juice.
- Enamel or oil-based paints can be replaced by latex or other water-based paints.
- Batteries can be replaced by wind-up watches, or rechargeable batteries can be used.

- Instead of using drain cleaners, the drain can be plunged. Baking soda and vinegar can be used as a preventative.

The environmental coordinator recommends that residents inventory the hazardous products in their homes. If the words flammable, caustic, corrosive, danger or poison appear anywhere on the label, use caution.

When possible, use non-hazardous products instead of the hazardous ones. For example, substitute mercury-free latex paints for oil-based paints, and use a half lemon, sprinkled with salt, to clean copper. Recycle and reuse household hazardous substances whenever possible. Take used motor oil, transmission fluid and lead-acid storage batteries to a service center to be recycled.

In his book, Earth in the Balance, Vice President Al Gore, outlines a dozen ways that individuals can help to save the earth. First, he suggests that people learn more about the environmental crisis and then change their way of thinking - and doing. Gore also suggests that people conserve energy, recycle, plant trees, organize cleanups and use mass transit.

Township agrees to 'plow under' farmland tax assessments

By CRAIG GARRETT
ANP Staff Writer

Farm property assessments reaching 1,000 percent in western Canton Township have been rolled back to more "appropriate levels," it was announced Monday, as have some assessments east of Canton Center Road.

Supervisor Thomas Yack said township officials have spent a great deal of time recently looking at the validity of huge property assessment increases affecting primarily township farmers, or residents west of Canton Center Road.

"We weren't comfortable with the increases," Yack said. "We may be able to justify" larger assessment growth "soon, but not now."

Township commercial assessor John McLenaghan said rollbacks, some 100 individual land parcels, were mostly handled by through board of review hearings, although some "neighboring" parcel owners received rollbacks without attending review sessions. He also said a number of eastern township residents convinced the board of review to lower assessed home and property values.

"Many farmers," McLenaghan said, "were able to provide information that lead us to feel changes were needed."

Canton officials were overwhelmed recently by a flood of western township residents learning their property values had skyrocketed after the state-mandated assessment freeze was lifted last December. In some cases, property increased 1,000 percent in value, although the township averaged just under 9 percent overall.

A special hearing at the Cherry Hill school house was convened recently for township officials to meet and listen to farmer complaints. Yack promised to meet with chief assessor Glenn Shaw after learning property had been reclassified from agricultural to residential without township knowledge.

Clerk Loren Bennett said the rollbacks brought farm assessments to a "livable level." "We've been burning the midnight oil for the past few weeks," Bennett admitted. "They told us we had a problem, we listened and action was taken. So far everyone seems happy."

Dairy farmer Donald Gill has worked the historic 200-acre Ridge Road site his entire life and was pleased to learn personal assessments topping 280 percent have been rolled back to an average 32 percent. Despite the reprieve, Gill said, he will continue fighting increases taking his battle to the Michigan Tax Tribunal.

"If I could raise the price of milk," Gill said, "I wouldn't mind the extra tax. But I can't with dairy competition from surrounding states. I'm going to have to eat any increases."

COMEDIANS PRESENT SIDE-SPLITTING BROADWAY ACT

A unique group of talented zany comedians will be keeping audiences at the Fox Theatre in stitches April 20-25 as they present "Catskills On Broadway"—a hysterical tribute to the resort area that spawned many of America's funniest people.

Freddie Roman, Louise Duart, Mal Z. Lawrence and Dick Carpi will provide more than two hours of non-stop family entertainment.

Roman is the creator of Catskills and a master of the subtle art of nightclub comedy.

He started as a teenage comic in various small resorts in the Catskills.

"I started my career in the mountains of Catskills," Roman said. "I had a great love for history. My uncle had a hotel in the Catskills. I went there when I was 11 to perform. He allowed me to be the master of ceremonies."

Roman said the guests of the hotel thought he was adorable.

"I guess my love for comedy began when I was a child because my dad used to take me to see various comedians."

Roman, however, was forced to push aside his aspirations and become the proprietor of a ladies' shoe store in order to support a growing family.

Although financially stable, Roman longed to return to the spotlight he earned as a young actor at New York University, various stock theatres in the northeast and at resorts in the Catskills.

With the support of his wife Ethel and family, he returned to the world of comedy and rapidly became a huge success in the New York area.

"What I enjoy most about comedy is the immediate reaction you receive from the audience," Roman said. "When you do a film or a television series, you don't get that reaction right away."

Roman's personable style and "everyman's" outlook at the world around him attracted many fans and friends.

One night Roman was fortunate to have the late Totie Fields in his audience and funny enough to have the great comedienne in tears. She immediately added Roman to her nationwide tour at which time Roman began to develop a national following.

"With Catskills I realized that there is a need for this kind of humor," Roman said. "We ran 14 weeks in New York, and it was sensational."

Roman has headlined at many of the major resorts across the U.S. including Caesar's Palace in Las Vegas and Harrah's in Atlantic City.

He spends 40 weeks a year performing on the road. He said his worst night as a comedian occurred when the big winter storm hit Philadelphia most recently.

"We opened the show on a Saturday," Roman said. "Approximately 1,100 tickets were sold for that day. Because of the storm, only 19 people showed for the matinee and 19 for the evening show. It was a disaster, but we still continued with the show."

What was Roman's best night as a comedian?
"It had to be the big gala performance that honored the current president," Roman said.

Besides traveling to various communities with his act, Roman has worked for many charities including hosting his own Freddie Roman Celebrity Golf Classic which benefits local hospitals. He is also the vice president of the Friar's Club, the oldest and most influential brotherhood of New York entertainers.

Prior to Catskills On Broadway, Roman performed a year at Trump Castle, starring in his own show Tonight Live.

He made his motion picture debut in the critically acclaimed Sweet Lorraine, co-starring Maureen Stapleton.

He has been seen in his own television special The Big Room. His son Alan is a television writer and producer of Dear John, Anything But Love, Baby Talk and Down The Shore.

His daughter Judi is a Brooklyn assistant district attorney. What's his favorite joke?

"A lady walks over to the clerk to check out of a hotel," Roman said. "She pays the clerk. Before she leaves he asks if everything was alright. She says to him, 'The food was poisoned and such small portions.'"

LOUISE DUART was the class comedienne throughout her school days. She said she used to perform with her brother for the family and friends when she was growing up.

"I use to mimic my friends mothers," DuArt said. "The mothers didn't appreciate it very much, but my friends did."

DuArt exploded onto the entertainment scene seven years ago and is now regarded as one of the country's foremost comedienne/impressionists.

She began her career on a $50 dare and went to the Comedy Store in Hollywood on an "open mike" night.

"It was my husband who bet me $50 to get on stage and perform before an audience," DuArt said. "I got on stage and

Wayne graduate shares talents with residents

By MARGO DEWEY
ANP Feature Editor

A multi-talented Wayne Memorial High School graduate will be sharing her operatic talents April 22 as she envelops Stage IV of the State Wayne Theatre with her elegant voice.

Liz Arthur, Wayne arts and entertainment coordinator, will join Denise Nikovich and Philip Pierson (opera students of Emilia Cundari) to present favorite operatic arias which will include selected pieces from Mozart, Puccini, Verdi and Donizetti.

"This will be a 1 1/2 hour performance with a 15-minute intermission," Arthur said. "The majority of the performances will be solos, but there will be a few duets."

Arthur and Nikovich will sing soprano and Pierson will sing base.

Arthur has trained with Cundari for three years. She said she enjoys singing opera because it's challenging.

"I enjoy the difficult aspect

of singing different repertoire," Arthur said. "I always knew as a child that I wanted to be a singer. When I went to Rome seven years ago, I saw many operas which enhanced my love for the music even more."

Arthur said she would like to perform professionally in the near future.

"I know singing opera professionally is what I want to do because I only want to do something where I am able to do my best," Arthur said. "It's the most rewarding to me. It's more important to me to be a great artist than a popular singer."

Cundari was born in Detroit and raised in Windsor, Ontario where she received her elementary and high school education at St. Mary's Academy.

She furthered her studies at Marygrove College in Detroit graduating with a bachelor of music degree.

Winner of the Grinnell award, she went to New York for a year of training with the City Center Opera.

After attending an audition with Max Rudolf, she was invited to attend the Kathryn Long school at the Metropolitan Opera. It was at that time Bruno Walter chose her to sing in the presentation of Mozart's Magic Flute, and was offered a two-year apprentice contract with the Metropolitan Opera.

Again with Walter, she recorded Mahler's second symphony and Beethoven's ninth for Columbia.

Granted the Rockefeller and the Sullivan awards, she went to Europe where she attained fame in the most important theaters and festivals.

Arthur, Nikovich and Pierson will perform 7:30 p.m. April 22. A 1 p.m. April 24 Introduction to Opera program has also been scheduled for children.

"This will be a one-hour program for children who love music," Arthur said. "Some background on opera will be provided and various anecdotes."

Cost for the April 22 program is $5. The children's program is $3. Tickets for the events are available at the State Wayne box office (326-4600), Wayne Community Center (721-7400) and all Ticket Master Outlets.

Happy campers

YMCA offers activities during vacation

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

More than 60 area children went to camp this week, and loved every minute of it.

While they are usually attending kindergarten through sixth-grade classes in school, this week they marched off to the YMCA (Young Men's Christian Association) Easter Day Camp.

The YMCA provides such camps throughout the year to help working parents during school vacations at Easter, Mid-Winter, Christmas and during the summer.

"It's part of our agreement with the schools—we provide day camp for kids," YMCA Latchkey Coordinator Kathleen Plond said.

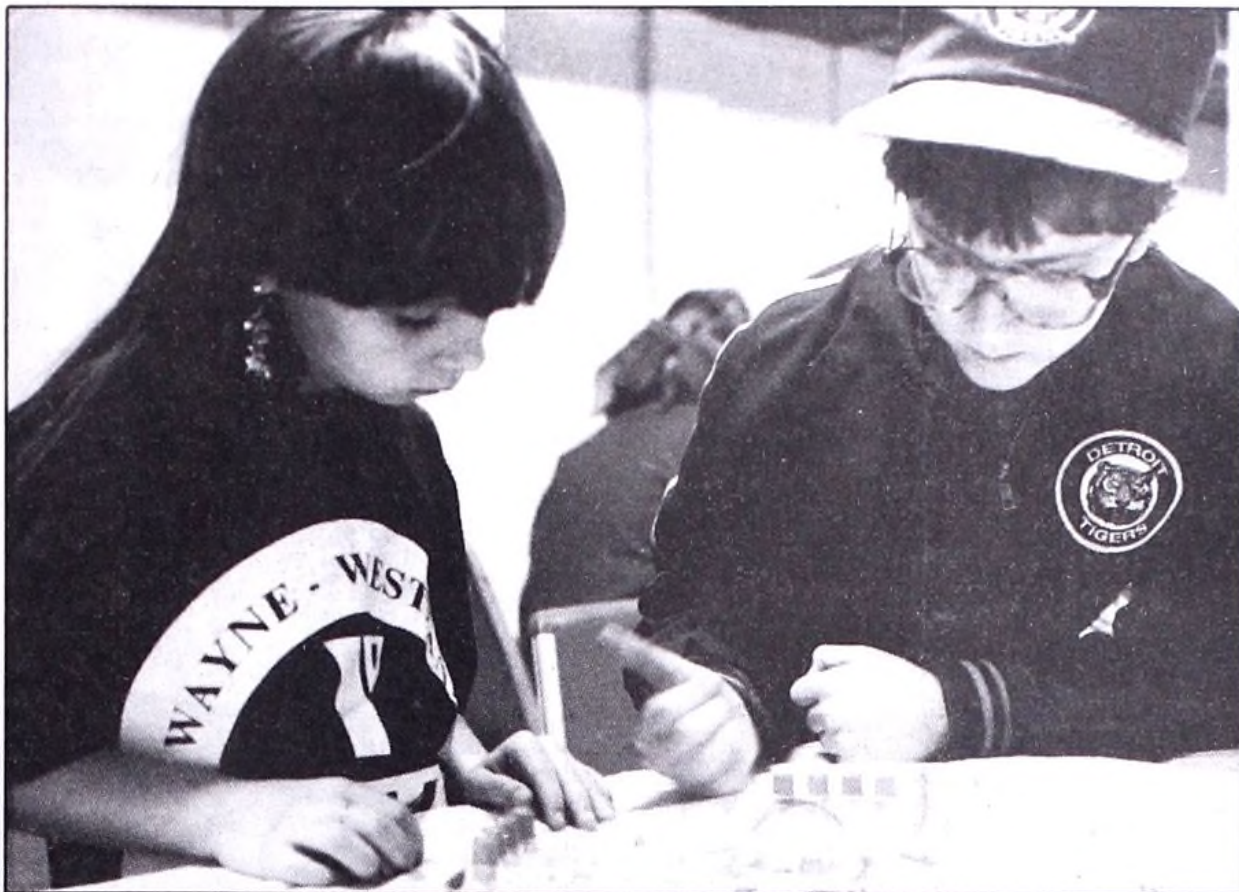

Plond said the YMCA camps are a good alternative for working parents.

"We can do things with the kids in large groups that you can't do with a (baby)sitter," Plond said.

The children spend their days in various outdoor and indoor activities. Much of the day is spent playing physically active group games. The children play outdoors as much as possible, Plond said. The YMCA has access to a track and field at a nearby junior high school. The YMCA barn is utilized for indoor activities.

In addition to games, the children are taken out for pizza and go bowling.

Many children prefer coming to the camp rather than staying at home during the Easter break, Plond said.

Cheree Blevins, a 10-year-old Wayne resident, said she prefers to go to camp where there are more things to do, rather than staying home.

"There are a lot of games. They take us out a couple times a week," Blevins said.

"I like the swimming and the field trips," said Melissa

Jennings, an 11-year-old Westland resident.

Plond admits the difficulty involved in keeping children of so many differing ages interested in the same things at the same times.

"We divide kids into age groups. They do basically the same activities, just at different times," Plond said.

Parents can drop their children off for day camp as early as 7 a.m. and pick them up until 6:30 p.m. The actual camp day is from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.

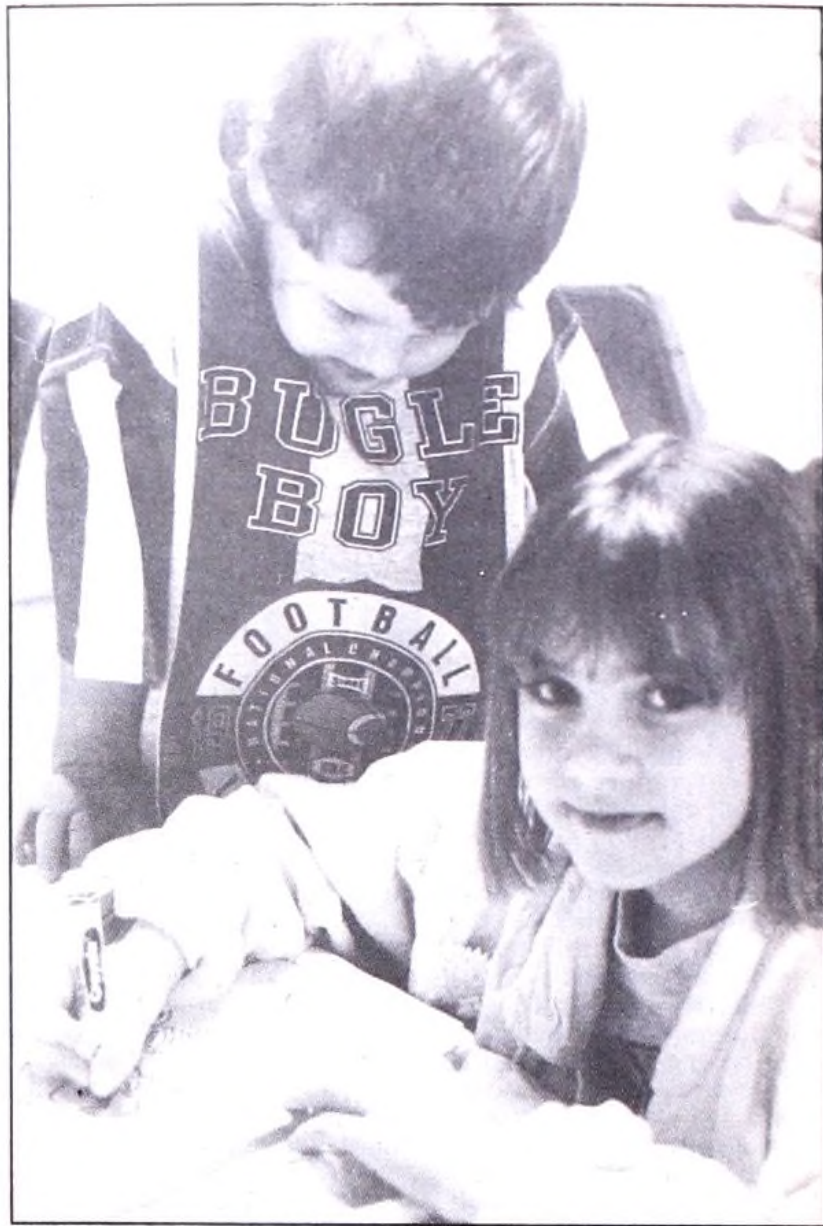

"We cater to working parents. Most kids are here because their parents are working," Plond said.

Taking children to the YMCA day camps may be less expensive than hiring a babysitter. YMCA members are charged $13 per child per day, non-members are charged $14.50 per day. Rates vary depending on the time of year. Easter Camp for YMCA members cost $60 per week per child and non-members are charged $70 per week. Summer camp is slightly more expensive starting at $69 per week for a member and $79 per child for non-members. A discount of 10 percent for Easter Camp is offered for each additional child and a 25 percent discount for each additional child attending Summer Camp.

Series of armed robberies continues in Westland

By JENNIFER PLACINTO
ANP Staff Writer

Armed robbers made off with over $2,000 cash in two separate incidents in Westland last week.

Standard Federal Bank, 7957 N. Wayne Road, was robbed around 11 a.m. Monday of $2,200 by a lone gunman, the third Westland bank robbery since Dec. 9.

The latest bank robbery occurred when a gunman slipped a piece of paper under a teller's window and said, "Hurry up, hurry up, give me all your money ... no big money."

The 22-year-old female teller, who did not take time to read the note, gathered the money she had in a loose stack and activated the robbery alarm.

While the teller was gathering the money, the robber again said, "Hurry up," and put his hand in his coat implying a weapon. He did not produce a weapon.

The perpetrator took the money, stuffed it into his shirt and fled on foot.

Police are continuing their investigation but have no suspects as yet.

The robber is described as a white male in his late 20s, approximately 5 feet 8 inches tall, with short brown hair and a mustache. The gunman was wearing sunglasses, a blue baseball cap, burgundy sweater with a white dress shirt and blue jeans.

In a separate incident, a Speedway gas station was robbed of $100 cash about 4 a.m. Thursday when a store clerk let a man in after hours.

The 50-year-old female clerk told police she was mopping the floor when the gunman knocked on the door requesting a carton of cigarettes. When the clerk went behind the counter, she said, the suspect produced a brown paper bag, pointed it at her, and said, "Open the register. I have a gun."

After the clerk opened the register, the perpetrator came around the counter, shoved the victim to the ground and grabbed the money from the cash register. The robber then asked the clerk, "Is that it?" When she replied, "yes", the gunman forced her into the back room, locked the door, and fled on foot, according to police reports.

The perpetrator is described as a white male, between 35 and 40-years of age, about 6 feet tall, with reddish-blond hair, a mustache and freckles. He was wearing a red coat and black baseball cap.

These robberies are two in a series of six isolated incidents in the past two weeks.

An armed robbery, on April 2 involved a gunman who robbed two victims walking toward the Landings apartments complex off Warren Avenue. The robber came running toward them, and before the two had time to move, produced a small-caliber handgun. One victim lost $100 and his companion $8, according to police reports.

An attempted robbery,

March 28, at the Wayne Road Domino's Pizza outlet left a 34-year-old Garden City man seriously injured when the attacker shoved a .25 caliber handgun through a door crack and pulled the trigger. Joseph Michael Gross collapsed after being shot in the upper chest. Disguised by a pillowcase, the perpetrator later escaped on foot leaving Gross bleeding behind a newspaper stand where he had managed to hide while the gunman searched the store. Gross is recovering at home.

Westland investigators are asking anyone with information regarding any of the incidents to call 721-6311.

did a number of impressions including Cher. I didn't know at that time Star Search officials were in the audience.

"The next thing I know, the asked me to go on the show."

Donna Summer saw DuArt perform on Star Search and invited her to be her opening act at Harrah's in Lake Tahoe.

"When I'm performing, I just can't wait to get out there," DuArt said. "All four of us in this production can't believe we're having so much fun doing this, and we are really pleased that we can help the audience to have fun too."

Besides Donna Summer, DuArt also performed as an opening act for Dionne Warwick and Burt Bacharach. She later reached Harrah's in Atlantic City which elevated her to headliner status.

"I think my mentors are Lucille Ball and Carol Burnett," DuArt said. "One of the best moments in my life was actually meeting Carol. I could relate to Carol because she wasn't the best looking like me, but ended up having a fabulous career."

In one of her performances, DuArt portrayed Burnett. She didn't know it, but one of Burnett's producers was in the audience that night and had taped the show.

"He showed the tape to Carol, and one day she called me at home," DuArt said. "My husband answered the phone and said 'It's Carol Burnett.' I couldn't believe it. I flipped out. I met her in person a few years after that."

In addition to her live appearances, DuArt is very active in television. She has starred in two highly acclaimed comedy specials for the Showtime network: The Mouth That Roared which earned two ACE nominations and The Secret Life of Barry's Wife.

DuArt has the distinction of being one of only four women in television history to host a game show, Rodeo Drive. She now lives on Martha's Vineyard Island with her two sons Keith and Daniel.

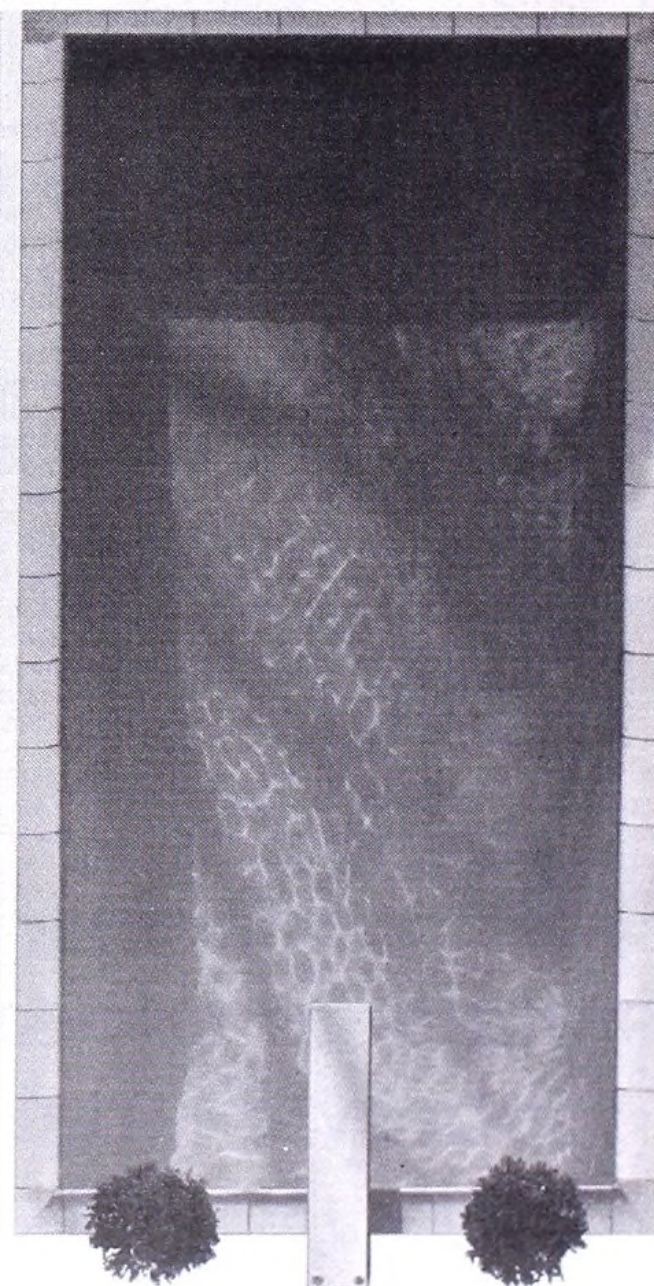

"I'm currently working on a one-woman show," DuArt said. "I would like to bring the act to Broadway one day. I'd also like to do a television series."

What keeps this multi-talented comedienne going?

"I feel everyone is born with an innate talent, and you have to do what works best for you," DuArt said.

Tickets are on sale at the Fisher Theatre box office and all TicketMaster outlets. For performance times call 872-1000.

Friends of campus submit suggestions to college

By JOAN DYER-ZINNER
Belleville City Editor

When the Western Campus of Wayne County Community College (WCCC) reopens this fall, its focus will be the result of input from a group of community leaders.

The two-year college, which suspended classes at the Belleville site in August, 1991, plans to re-open the center for the fall semester. Prior to that time, the Friends of the Western Campus Council have been meeting to plan strategy for a successful revitalization of the center.

At an April 14 meeting, Western Campus Dean Dr. Carol Culpepper received program and services reports from four subcommittees of the council. She will, in turn, make recommendations to the college president and board based on the citizens' reports.

"This was a labor of love," said Culpepper, commenting on the recommendations of the Friends of the Western Wayne Campus.

From a long list of innovative ideas submitted by the council, college officials will now have to match the "wish list" with budgetary reality.

"From now to September will be an exciting period at the campus. We will be looking at new studies, and I will be working with Dr. Culpepper on a budget," said WCCC President Dr. Rafael Cortada. "We will be working to put the campus on a break-even basis. We can't lose $1.6 million per year at this center as we did before the closing."

Cortada said he plans to study the recommendations of the community group when the fall program for the center is developed.

"Classes will resume in the fall with a new synthesis for the campus," Cortada said, noting that future programs must fit the needs of the community and their employers.

"With the current problems in education, it is more important than ever before that we address the needs of the community. The economy has not picked up, we continue to have an unemployment problem, and our high school graduates need help in skills and training," the college president said.

"We are listening to the recommendations so that we can re-create the college that best serves the needs of the community," said Tom Dolan, principal of Romulus High School. Dolan called for programs to boost science and math knowledge. He noted that the students from the U.S. are listed in 13th place in science and math among the industrialized nations.

Tricia Winborn of Family and Neighborhood Services submitted three recommendations from the Community Services Subcommittee:

- Establishment of a family center on campus to include counseling, seminars, workshops and tutoring.
- Youth programs such as an introduction to computers and applied sciences plus theater, sports and a child care center.
- Community outreach through a volunteer speaker bureau, academic programs and continuing education.

Dr. Anna Loranger, president of the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce, surveyed local businesses through the Business and Industrial Subcommittee.

"Utilizing the survey, our subcommittee strongly recommends housing a corporate division at the Western Campus. We feel that a program should be devised to work specifically with corporations and businesses in western Wayne County," said Dr. Loranger in her report. "We felt further research is needed to determine just what technical skills are needed. Are they different for each industry or are there areas where they overlap?"

Dr. Loranger said the subcommittee also sees a need for innovative ways of teaching that will allow the college to accommodate the variety of industries in the area. The subcommittee also wishes to establish a Blue Ribbon Steering Committee to assure a continuing link with the business community.

Four recommendations were made by the Education Subcommittee, chaired by Ronald Sergeant, director of Educational Services for the Wayne County Regional Education Services Agency.

- Cooperative development of a science and math center which includes advanced study for kindergartners through adults.
- Collaborative development of a shared vocational/technical center.
- Development of an assessment-tutorial program to aid 10th to 12th graders in preparing to pass the state diploma certification test.

• Designation of space for a conference center to accommodate educational workshops, seminars and training.

Public Relations Subcommittee Chairman Linda Hall, vice president of the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce, suggested "a big public relations splash" to re-open the center.

Hall requested that a staff person be assigned to coordinate public relations for the Western Campus.

The Public Relations Subcommittee also suggested hosting seminars, workshops, science fairs and other events at the site to increase awareness of the center.

Members of the Steering Committee include Wayne County Commissioner Kay Beard, Romulus Police Chief Fred Dansby, Belleville Chamber of Commerce Executive Secretary Janet Millard, Van Buren Public Schools Vocational Education Director Bill Nagy, the Rev. Robert G. Williams Jr. of St. James United Methodist Church, Clark, Dolan, Hall, Loranger, Sergeant and Winborn.

Guilty plea entered in 12 bank robberies

A 30-year-old Westland bank robber could spend the next 220 years behind bars after pleading in the United States District Court to robbing 12 banks Westland, Romulus, Inkster and the surrounding areas.

Curtis Lee Williams of Westland on Wednesday entered a plea of guilty in federal court to 12 counts of bank robbery and one count of using a firearm during a crime of violence, according to federal authorities.

Williams pleaded guilty before U.S. District Judge Avern Cohn.

Assistant United States Attorney Kenneth R. Chadwell, who prosecuted the case against Lee, pointed out that "each of the 12 bank robbery counts carries a maximum penalty of 20 years and a $250,000 fine."

"The gun count carries a mandatory minimum of five years imprisonment and a maximum fine of $250,000."

Cohn has not set a date for sentencing in this case.

Residents to appear on robbery charges

An April 19 arraignment on information has been scheduled for three Wayne residents charged with armed robbery before Detroit Wayne County Recorder's Court Judge M. John Shamo.

Jason Will, 19, Cory Nash, 19, and Patrick Williams, 22, allegedly took money, jewelry and beepers from various individuals 11:30 p.m. March 15 at George's Fun Center parking lot, 35501 west Michigan Ave.

All three suspects appeared for an examination April 5 before 29th District Court Judge Carolyn Archbold. A $1,000 bond was set for Nash, and Will and Williams each received a $5,000 bond.

Williams admitted to robbing the Romulus-based National Bank of Detroit on Ecorse Road on Nov. 12 of 1992.

Williams struck in the same city 11 days later and, on Nov. 23, held up the Security Bank and Trust on South Wayne Road. Apparently lifted by his successes, the confessed bank robber went on a holdup spree.

Williams walked into the Comerica Bank on Newburgh Road in Westland and robbed that bank of an undetermined amount of cash. That hold up occurred on Dec. 9, 1992. His next two strikes were in Dearborn Heights.

Williams admitted the First Nationwide Bank on Cherry Hill Road robbery (Dec. 14, 1992) and also made good on a hold up of the Comerica Bank on Telegraph Road (Dec. 15, 1992).

Before his bank robbing spree ended, Williams also got away after robbing the Heritage Federal Savings Bank on Cherry Hill in Inkster. That robbery took place on Jan. 11, 1993.

Williams was also charged with felony firearm, according to Wayne police Lt. Mel Drews.

The Wayne residents were arraigned before Judge Gail McKnight at an out county court.

Wayne police arrested Williams on a second armed robbery incident which occurred 9:45 p.m. March 23 at George's Fun Center. He was charged with armed robbery on the March 23 incident and a $10,000 cash bond was set.

All the arrests were a result of an investigation conducted by Wayne police Sgt. Chris Johnson and Sgt. Bob McIntyre, according to Drews.

Efficient vehicle maintenance pays extra dividends

Listen to the pros—car care is a win-win situation.

Besides helping the environment, a properly maintained and operated vehicle runs better, is safer and will last longer—up to 50 percent longer. This advice comes from a free brochure, "Keeping Your Vehicle in Tune With the Environment," available from the non-profit National Institute for Automotive Service Excellence (ASE).

The brochure, part of the ASE Glove Box Tips Series, includes advice on what you or your repair technician can do to ensure that your vehicle is "environmentally friendly." Among the suggestions:

- Keep your engine tuned-up—a misfiring spark plug can reduce fuel efficiency as much as 30 percent. You'll help reduce air pollution, too.
- Replace filters and fluids as recommended for efficient engine performance.
- Check your tires for proper inflation and alignment. Both conditions waste fuel. Properly maintained tires last longer too, meaning fewer scrap tires have to be disposed.
- Properly dispose of used motor oil, anti-freeze/coolant, tires and old batteries. Many repair facilities accept these items; otherwise, call your local government for recycling sites. Never dump used motor oil or anti-freeze on the ground or in open streams.

• If you are not a do-it-yourselfer, find a good technician. Ask friends and associates for recommendations. Check the reputation of the repair shop with your local consumer group. Look for places which employ ASE-certified technicians. ASE technicians have passed national certification exams. Repair facilities with ASE-certified technicians usually display ASE's blue and white logo.

- Keep your air conditioner in top condition and have it only serviced by a technician certified competent to handle/recycle refrigerants. Air conditioners contain closed systems with CFCs—gases that have been implicated in the depletion of the ozone layer.
- Drive gently. Avoid sudden accelerations and jerky stop-and-gos. Use cruise-control on open highways to keep your speed steady.
- Observe speed limits. Gas mileage decreases sharply above 55 mph.
- Remove excess items from the vehicle. Less weight means better mileage. To reduce air drag, store luggage in the trunk rather than on the roof.

- Avoid excessive idling. Shut off the engine while waiting for friends and family. Today, vehicles are designed to warm up fast, so forget about those five-minute warm ups on cold winter mornings.
- Plan trips. Consolidate your family errands to eliminate unnecessary driving. Try to travel when traffic is light to avoid stop-and-go conditions. Join a car pool.

profit, independent organization dedicated to help improve the quality of automotive service and repair through the voluntary testing and certification of automotive technicians. ASE tests over 100,000 technicians annually in more than 20 technical specialties. Some 300,000 technicians hold current credentials from ASE and wear the blue and white shoulder patch.

For a free copy of the auto tip brochure, send a stamped, self-addressed business-sized envelope to: ASE Environmental Brochure, Dept PR-EB, P.O. Box 347, Herndon, VA. 22070.

Firebird chosen as 'Best Performance Car'

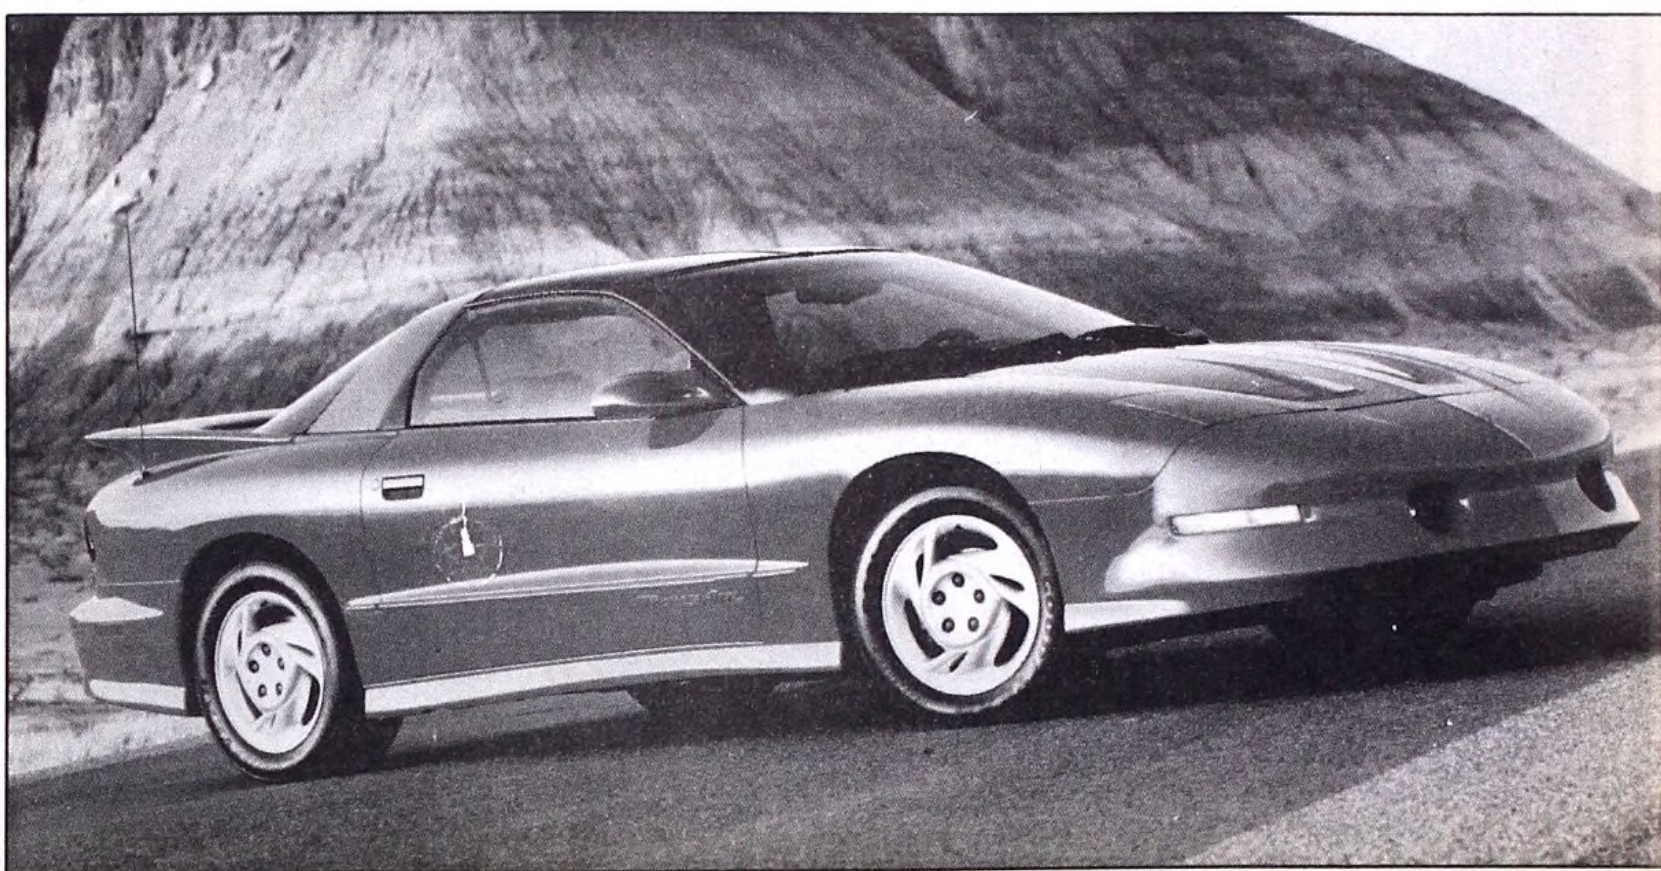

The all-new Pontiac Firebird has been selected as "Best Performance Car" by Motorweek, the public broadcast network television series.

This award marks the fourth consecutive year that a Pontiac has been named best of its respective class. In 1992, the full-sized Bonneville was chosen "Best Domestic Sedan" and in 1991 and 1990, the mid-sized Grand Prix captured top honors in its category.

"Motorweek has always believed Firebird represented the classic American sports car. The latest iteration continues a tradition of great powertrain performance in concert with excellent handling characteristics and aggressive styling," John Davis, the show producer and host, said.

"The latest iteration continues a tradition of great powertrain performance in concert with excellent handling characteristics and aggressive styling."
John Davis

Available in three models—Firebird, Formula and Trans Am—Pontiac expects to attract large numbers of buyers from the ranks of import owners with 275 horsepower engines.

The 1993 Pontiac Firebird was recently chosen 'Best Performance Car'
